High Rents in Downtown Business Area Resulting in Many Empty Storefronts

Near the library, four empty storefronts virtually face each other across Wither- spoon Street. At 179-183 Nas- sau Street, the sound of restoration work being done on the fire-damaged and boarded-up buildings is in sharp contrast to the two emp- ty stores on the street.

Across Nassau, a sign an- nounces that The Country Mouse is closing. While at the shopping center, the empty spaces of the former Epstein's and Acme cause distress to a town that misses its only department store and one of its few supermarkets.

The problem in the down- town business area, says Bor- ough Mayor Marvin Reed, lies largely in the high rents being charged. These run, he said, from $35 to $42 per square foot in and around Nassau Street and Palmer Square, "an incredible price compared with Lawrenceville and Plains- boro."

A sagging economy does not appear to have lowered rentals in the Central Business

District, said the Mayor. "Nor- mally, in a recession, when many stores stand empty, you see the square footage charge go down. It has not dropped at all as far as I can tell. Landlords appear to prefer to leave stores empty. If this con- tinues, it will be very bad for the town."

The Mayor also noted that businesses that were margin- ally profitable in the first place were the first to fail in an econ- omic downturn.

Chambers Walk now stands empty. Mayor Reed said the owners wanted the rent to be lower because, for the kind of operation they were running, they couldn't pay the level of rent they were being charged by Collins Corporation.

Doris Parker-Grossman, ex- ecutive vice president of Palm- er Square, said the cafe's owners had simply stopped paying rent for five months after a new lease was nego- tiated. "The owners are at- torneys. They knew what they got into," she snapped.

2 More Days of Hearings Set on Helistop Proposal

Two more days are scheduled for the hearing before Administrative Law Judge Jeff S. Masin on Church & Dwight's applica- tion to the Department of Transportation for permis- sion to operate a helistop in its parking lot off Bunn Drive.

After three days of testimony pro and con in the Valley Road building meeting room last week, the hearing was continued to this Friday with additional time scheduled on Thurs- day, February 7. The hear- ings have begun at 9:30 and ended around 2:30 or 3. Elizabeth Zuckerman, the attorney representing the Township as it seeks to have the request denied, plans to call Seymour M. Bogdonoff, professor of aeronautical engineering emeritus at Princeton University, as a witness to testify on noise and safety issues related to helicopter operation.

Township Proposes 5.6% Increase In '91 Municipal Operating Budget

The Township administrator has proposed a 1991 municipal operating budget (less the reserve for uncollected taxes) totalling almost $13 million, up 5.6 percent from last year.

Depending on different scenarios involving use of surplus, the size of the 1991 capital budget, and a 1991 municipal salary policy Town- ship Committee has yet to determine, the municipal tax rate could jump between 16 and 19 cents for 1991.

The 1990 municipal rate was 70 cents per $100 of as- sessed value, only seven cents up from the previous year. Count, and school taxes of $1.22 and $1.72, respec- tively, brought the total 1990 Township tax rate to $3.64 per $100 assessed value. The 1991 rate could be 16 to 19 cents higher, assuming no change in the County and school rates.

Township administrator Jan. 25, Mascale presented the proposed 1991 Township municipal budget to Township Committee Monday night, along with what he called a "Chinese menu" of options that will affect the final rate. He is recommending that Com- mittee look at the "big pic- ture" — how capital projects and salary levels affect the tax rate — before getting "bogged down," as he puts it, in review- ing the proposed 1991 ap- propriations line by line.

Committee will discuss the budget at this Monday's reg- ular meeting and at the Mon- day, February 11, regular meeting. A special meeting is called for Tuesday, February 19, because Monday, Febru- ary 18, is a holiday. Commit- tee meets at 7:30 in the Valley Road building.

There will be joint meetings with the Borough on two Saturdays, February 16 and 23, and the Township budget will be introduced on Monday, February 25, the statutory deadline.

The Township has tended to base its municipal salary decisions on its contract with the police, but this year nego- tiations with the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association broke down and the Township is in arbitration proceedings over police salaries. Thus, although salaries are expected to have the biggest dollar increase over last year's budget, the amount is not yet known.

The next biggest increase will go to pay for fire hydrant water. The two Princetons have long enjoyed lower fire hydrant rates than other mu- nicipalities, and last year Elizabethtown Water Co. suc- cessfully petitioned the Board of Public Utilities for an "equalization" adjustment. The adjustment will be spread over several years, but for 1991 it amounts to an addi- tional $71,570 for the Town- ship.

Zoning Board Okays Handicap Alterations To Patton Ave. Home

A succession of five meetings between a Patton Avenue resident seeking to nearly double the size of her house in order to make it handicap-accessible, and neighbors alarmed at the pros- pect, appears to have done lit- tle to bring the parties closer together.

For more than three hours last Thursday night, members of the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment heard an ap- plication for variances by Cor- delia (Dee) Everett — and re- quests by neighbors that these variances not be granted. In the end, the Board, which had first suggested the meetings, ruled in favor of Ms. Everett.

Empty Stores

Chambers Walk co-owner Mario Mangone would comment only that "the landlord and tenant could not come to an agreement on a new lease." He said that if the right spot for a cafe came up, that would be great, but at the moment he was looking for a new place for his catering business.

Palmer Square retail stores remain nearly 100 percent leased or rented, said Ms. Grossman. She expects another food operation, similar to Chambers Walk, to open in the space in early March.

"Over ten inquiries came in, and all were willing to pay the rent," she said. "We know it can work. They were all moderate priced." The new cafe, she said, would have an average check very close, if not identical, with that of Chambers Walk. It, too, would offer cappuccino, espresso, and pastries.

"I'm going to work at Jordan's, where we can, hopefully, carry on the Mouse tradition," said Gloria Marrazza, owner for the past 3½ years of The Country Mouse. She has tried to sell the business for the past year, after suffering from a limping economy, high rents, and very high expenses.

She also cited competition from three major shopping centers that opened during the past three years: Bridgewater, MarketFair, and Forrestal.

In addition to the economy, rents, expenses and competition, Ms. Marrazza said that parking caused her many problems. "It's a terrible situation," she said. "People tell me they won't shop in Princeton because of the parking."

High rents are one of the major concerns of Borough Merchants for Princeton, said its president, Ray Wadsworth. Even though the recession has affected everyone, Princeton has been pretty lucky so far, he said.

This view was echoed by Mayor Reed, who said that his impressions at Christmas were appreciation recommended that the merchants didn't do nearly as badly as they had thought.

"We had a reasonably good Christmas in downtown Princeton, and we were all relatively pleased," he said. "But then there was the cold, and then the war. I think there could

Last Call for TT Fund

The 1990-91 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund drive will end next Friday, having raised far more money than ever before.

The amount collected stands at $24,295.19, more than $8,000 ahead of the previous high set in 1987. Town Topics deeply appreciates this outpouring of support from so many generous Princeton area residents in times when we are all face to face with war and recession.

For those who would like to slip a contribution in at the last minute, there is still time to send a check to P.O. Box 664, Princeton 08540, or drop one off at 4 Mercer Street. Do it today.

ultimately be a fall-off in rents."

Community Development Director Frank Slimak said present conditions could lead to an influx of eating and drinking establishments. Current ordinances do not allow banks and offices on the street level, leaving the space to retail and eating and drinking establishments. The latter, he pointed out, are the higher paying of the uses.

Eating and drinking uses, however, must be approved through the planning and zoning process, pointed out Mr. Slimak, and are seriously constrained by the difficulties in providing the required parking in the downtown business district.

"The Borough has tried to do all it can — facilitate construction permits, not tie things up," said Mayor Reed. "I can't control the rents that are charged. The economy may do that. It hasn't yet."

The Public Library will also get $68,218 more than it did in 1990, if Committee approves the appropriations recommended by Mr. Pascale. He said the Library had presented "a very solid, well-documented request" and reminded Committee that the Library is different from other agencies in that it is a wholly self-sustaining operation.

Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority sewer treatment costs are up some $54,000, and Princeton Sewer Operating Committee operating expenses are also up by $27,000. The Health Department is requesting $15,000 more than last year, the Fire Department $13,000 over last year, and an additional $7,901 is proposed for the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The administrator has also cut individual departmental budget requests by $214,237. This eliminates two new police officers as well as a secretary for the Welfare Department and a new maintenance worker to take care of the Recreation Department's new parks. There is also a significant reduction in the Fire Department's request and also a reduction in the Shade Tree Commission request, Mr. Pascale said.

"You will probably hear from them," he told Committee. In discussing the revenue side of the budget, he pointed out that there had been a significant drop in revenue from municipal court fees in 1990 as well as in the interest on investments, some $20,000 from each.

Setting Rate Difficult

In a memo to Committee and to the press, Mr. Pascale said that setting a municipal tax rate is a difficult task. It requires having adequate cash on hand, unanticipated in the operating budget, to meet cash flow needs. It also requires forecasting the Township needs in terms of future operating budget growth; future committed bonded indebtedness; the Griggs Farm deficit; future capital needs; and projected ratable growth.

With Township Financial Officer Himanshu Shah and other Township staff, Mr. Pascale developed a tax forecasting model that forecasts tax rates taking into account these factors, and assuming future capital projects ranging in total from $1 million to $5 million in any one year. The $5 million model includes such things as library expansion, new police headquarters, and major road rehabilitation.

It does not include things such as acquisition of the Institute for Advanced Study property, nor the Tusculum property, although $750,000 has been pledged already for Tusculum. It also does not include renovation of the Valley Road building municipal offices.

The $1 million model of new capital projects per year represents a dramatic curtailment of major public works projects, including road repair, Mr. Pascale noted.

He said he was providing Committee with a Chinese menu approach to establishing the 1991 municipal tax rate so that Committee members can set the tax rate based on its policy decisions as to the level of capital financing it wishes to authorize, "with full knowledge as to the tax consequences."

The memo also notified Committee that the Township sewer rate for 1991 will go up 65 cents to $4.55 per 100 cubic feet of water used. The sewer rate is arrived at by totaling up all the sewer-related appropriations in the annual operating budget and dividing this amount by the total estimated water consumption throughout the Township. This means that sewer users pay for all sewer charges; those with septic systems pay none of these costs.

Several Options Cited For Griggs Farm Units

At its meeting last week, the Housing Board reviewed three different options for selling the 60 market rate units that are completed and available. No decision was made, according to Chairman Tom Poole.

One option, made for comparison's sake, is to continue marketing the units in a conventional manner with no special sales events but perhaps some reduction in price. Under this scenario, selling out the development could stretch out to December 1994 and the projected deficit could be around $12 million. Princeton Community Housing suggests that this deficit could be improved by $2.6 million by taking out an early long-term bond.

Another option, recommended by Morton Hoffman, the consultants retained by the Township to review Griggs Farm, calls for two-day sales events in February, April, July and October, and again in 1992. This

Valentine Workshop

The sixth annual Valentine workshop in memory of Betty Ruth Curtiss, a Princeton artist remembered for the generous sharing of her innovative and fanciful artistic gifts with the community, will be held Saturday, February 9, at the Arts Council.

The entire community is invited to come and create handmade Valentines for special friends. Children 7 and under must be accompanied by an adult.

The workshops will be given from 10:30 a.m. to noon and from 12:30 to 2; pre-registration is required. A $1 donation per participant is requested.

For more information, or to register, call the Arts Council Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 6 or Saturday from 10 to 4 p.m.

scenario assumes a 24-month sell-out, with about eight units sold during each two-day event. The projected deficit would be reduced to about $9 million, which also could be improved by an early long-term bond.

A third option is to hold an auction in late March at which all 60 units would be sold. This would reduce the projected deficit to around $7 million. There would be savings from decreased interest expense, marketing and other "soft" costs.

Greenway Given Grant For General Operations

The Delaware and Raritan Greenway, a regional land conservation organization, has been awarded a grant of $6,000 from the Mary Owen Borden Foundation. The money will be used for general operations, such as salaries and overhead costs, according to Maude Backes, executive director.

The goal of the Delaware and Raritan Greenway is to create an open space network that will unite the region's parks and natural areas into a continuous band of preserved lands, or greenways. The protected stream corridor is the core component of the Greenway, to which environmentally significant open space areas are added to form a continuous network. These greenways will prevent preserved areas from becoming isolated by development and losing their ecological value.

They will protect water quality, control flooding, provide wildlife habitat.

The group functions mainly as a land trust, acquiring land and managing it in its open state. "We have a limited area of geographical concern — lands adjacent to or nearby the streams in the Delaware and Raritan Canal Park Watershed," explained Ms. Backes. Greenway works with conservation-minded landowners to secure environmentally significant lands, farmland and forest. This is achieved through the donation or purchase of conservation easements and lands in fee simple.

The Delaware and Raritan Greenway office is located at 621 Alexander Road, Princeton, 08540. For more information call 452-1441.

NEW HEAD FOR INSTITUTE: Phillip A. Griffiths, right, director elect of the Institute for Advanced Study, is introduced by James D. Wolfensohn, chairman of the board of trustees.

Mathematician Named Director of Institute

The board of trustees of the Institute for Advanced Study has selected Phillip A. Griffiths, provost and professor of mathematics at Duke University, as director, effective July 1. He succeeds Marvin L. Goldberger, former chairman of the Princeton University Physics Department and former president of the California Institute of Technology, who has been the director since 1987.

Dr. Griffiths, 52, received his Ph.D. in mathematics from Princeton University in 1963 and his B.S. from Wake Forest University in 1959. He was a Miller Fellow at the University of California at Berkeley in 1962-74 and a faculty member from 1964-67. He came to Princeton University as a visiting professor in 1967 and was appointed professor in 1968. He was a member at the Institute for Advanced Study from 1968-70.

He taught at Harvard for 11 years and in Beijing and Nanjing, China, before becoming provost and James B. Duke Professor of Mathematics at Duke University in 1983. In 1989 President Bush named Dr. Griffiths to the National Science Board, the policy-making body of the National Science Foundation.

He helped produce a National Research Council report entitled, "Everybody Counts: A Report to the Nation on the Future of Mathematics Education." The report described the need for higher standards in mathematical programs and concluded that without nationwide improvements in the quality of mathematical education, the United States will fall behind in science and technology.

PU Employee Charged With Acts of Lewdness

A Princeton University employee has been charged by Borough police with committing two acts of lewdness at Dillon Gym on the University campus.

The employee, Thomas C. Lawrence, 25, of Trenton, a computer technician with the University's Department of Computing and Information Technology, allegedly exposed himself last Tuesday around 6:40 outside the women's locker room and again around 4 p.m. two days earlier. As he exposed himself to a student last Tuesday, it was witnessed by a female staff member. The description of the suspect matched that of two days earlier: white male in his early 20s, stocky, round face, fair skin with dark hair.

Last Wednesday while a Borough officer in the gym area and a University proctor inside the gym were continuing the investigation, a person was seen in the gym who matched the description of the suspect. One of the victims was brought to the gym and identified Lawrence.

He was taken to headquarters, questioned and eventually charged. Lawrence offered an explanation for his behavior, Chief Thomas Michuad said, but he added, "police didn't buy it." Lawrence is scheduled to appear February 11 in Borough court.

Borough Man Charged In Sam Goody Theft

A 32-year-old Pine Street resident, John Gore, was arrested Sunday and charged by police with shoplifting $70 worth of tapes from the Sam Goody store on Nassau Street.

According to police, Gore was observed acting suspiciously in the store around noon. As he started to leave, he was approached by one of the clerks. When the clerk started to question Gore, Gore handed over the tapes.

Ptl. David Dudeck responded to a call from the store and placed Gore under arrest. He faces a hearing Monday in Borough court.

$26,000 Ring Missing From Township Home

A round, 2.39 carat diamond ring with an approximate value of $26,000 is missing from a Wendover Road home.

In reporting the ring missing on Sunday, the owner told police the ring was last seen December 12 on a counter in an upstairs bedroom. The ring cannot be found anywhere in the house, the owner said.

Two cars stolen in the Borough last week have since been recovered.

A locked, 1984 Mazda parked Sunday afternoon in the rear of 15-19 Chambers Street was stolen and recovered the same evening at 10:15 by Ewing Township police. The car had been abandoned, undamaged, on Southard Street in Trenton. The owner, a Borough resident, valued the car at $300.

Last Tuesday evening, a West Windsor resident parked his $27,000 1989 Acura in front of the Burger King on Nassau Street, leaving his young daughter inside and the motor running. When the daughter got out and went to see what was taking her father so long, someone drove off in the car.

It was recovered the next day in the parking lot behind Lincoln Home on Lincoln Avenue in Trenton. Police report the car was undamaged.

Two cars were also taken last week in the Township. Police report that a 1984 Mazda 626 LX 4-door was stolen overnight from the owner's driveway on Wheatshaf Lane. A police search in the area failed to find the $7,000 car.

A 1981 brown Toyota 4-door was stolen early last week from a lot adjacent to Greenbrier Row in Princeton Community Village where the owner is a resident. Police found parts of the car's locking mechanism at the scene but have been unable to recover the car. It is valued at approximately $500.

A spare tire and rim, mounted on the rear tailgate of a Chevrolet Blazer, was stolen while the car was parked in a lot in the 800 block area of State Road. Value of the tire and rim: $240.

A pair of $40 gloves was stolen from a car that was parked overnight last week in

New Patient Rooms on View

The new patient rooms on the recently completed sixth and seventh floors of the J Building house at Princeton Medical Center will be opened for the public to see on Sunday, from 12:30 to 4. All are invited.

"We were aware, and our patients have told us, that the old rooms in the early hospital building and the A Building, which was built in the 50s, are just not attractive or appropriate surroundings for care," Dennis W. Doody, president of the Medical Center said. "As promptly as possible we embarked on a program to bring all in-patient care into modern, comfortable space. The opening of the sixth and seventh floors represents the completion of the first phase of that task."

During the Sunday afternoon open house, representatives of the Medical Center will be stationed throughout the seventh floor to demonstrate and explain the new patient care systems.

The individual patient beds and headwall to which they are attached are a major focus of patient comfort. The beds themselves adjust in firmness to the most appropriate level for each patient and the side rails contain such conveniences as the telephone, bed adjustment and nurse call. The headwall system brings all of the equipment necessary for complete patient care to a convenient location.

In the wide corridors, nurse substations provide work space and storage close to the patient so nurses can work near their patients and be immediately accessible.

Refreshments will be served during the open house.

a private drive in the 800 block of Lawrenceville Road. Police report that the driver's window was found slightly ajar and the car's locking mechanism had been damaged.

Video Movies Stolen

Twenty-one video movie cassettes worth approximately $600 were stolen during the past two months from the Mathey-Rockefeller Library on the University campus where they had been stored. All were popular movies such as Color of Money and Dead Poets' Society, police said.

For the second time in the past month, a cash box at the McCosh Infirmary was looted last week. Taken overnight was $60 to $80. No sign of any forced entry, say police.

A three-quarter-length suede coat valued at $800 was stolen last week from a first-floor coatroom in the Cloister Inn. The victim, a female University student, placed the theft between midnight and 2 last Tuesday morning.

A student's bookbag was stolen Friday afternoon from the girls' locker room at Princeton High School. Total value of the bookbag and the books and clothing it contained was placed at $230. Police say they don't know if the victim's locker was locked or not.

A 16-year-old Township youth has been charged with shoplifting a $17 calculator Friday afternoon from Center Stationers in the Princeton Shopping Center. The suspect was described to Ptl. Robert Nielsen who arrested the youth

Appeal for Cash

The campaign cabinet of the Princeton Area United Jewish Appeal met recently to take action in light of the current situation in Israel. The cabinet decided to forward $150,000 of urgently needed cash to United Jewish Appeal, which then will be forwarded to Israel.

Due to the current attacks on Israel as a result of the war in the Persian Gulf, the Israeli economy has been paralyzed. The shutdown of the Israeli economy for four days cost $1 billion, an additional $350 million was lost as a result of the slowdown in transport services and exports. In addition, thousands of Soviet Jews, joined by a steady stream of Ethiopian Jews arriving daily in Israel, make the need greater than ever for increased giving.

The Princeton Area United Jewish Appeal is urging those contributors who have already made their 1991 pledge to make a partial or full payment now, because Israel needs cash. If you have not been solicited or have not pledged to the 1991 Campaign, you are invited to join this most important campaign effort. The Princeton Area United Jewish Appeal is striving for at least a 20 percent increase over last year's pledges towards its goal of $850,000. Donors are encouraged to accompany their pledge with full or partial payment.

For further information, call Jeri Zimmerman, executive director, 243-3440.

a block away from the center. He was turned over to Det. Renn Kaminski, the Township's juvenile officer.

A 57-year-old resident from Harrisonburg, Va. was sitting on a bench in the mall area of the Princeton Shopping Center when she was approached early last week by a middle-aged black female. They spoke. Did she know about the sale going on in Thrift Drugs, the younger woman asked.

The older woman went over to the drug store and discovered that her grey wallet was missing from her purse. It contained $30, a gold wedding band and credit cards. Total loss: $200.

Cranbury Man Pays $630 On 9 Bad Check Charges

A Cranbury resident, Dallas Roughgarden, 98 Princeton Arms West, was fined a total of $630 Monday in Borough court on nine bad check charges. Mr. Roughgarden was fined $40 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board on each charge by Judge Russell W. Anich Jr.

Louis C. Edwards of Trenton, was fined $325 and $30 VCCB and received a 10-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse for shoplifting.

Fined for speeding in traffic court were Roy M. James, 77 Poe Road, $85; Thomas W. Lanen, 20 Quaker Road, Princeton Junction, $65; Alvin McNair, 13 Stoniker Drive, Lawrenceville, $60; and Sylvia K. Sun, 3 Holman Court, West Windsor, $80.

Grant R. Crawford, 231 Lambert Drive, paid $75 for leaving the scene of an accident; Daniel N. Welsh, 892 Kingston Road, paid $60 for disregarding a traffic signal, and Claire L. Vichnevetsky, 38 Oakland Road, paid $30 for an illegal left turn on Chambers Street. Jaywalking cost Rachel Parker, 276 Hale Street, Princeton, $30.

Two paid two fines each. Martinez Reyes, 240 John Street, was fined $215 as an unlicensed driver and $20 for no insurance card in possession. Rhonda L. Kirk, 312 Aspen Drive, Plainsboro, paid $30 each for expired inspection and no insurance card in possession.

Township Court

In Township court last week, Michael B. Grillo, 124 Woodview Drive, Belle Mead, was fined $125 and $30 VCCB and had his license revoked for six months for eluding a police officer.

For driving while intoxicated, Mr. Grillo was fined $515 plus a $100 surcharge and lost his license for two years. He was also sentenced to 30 days community service and ordered to spend 48 hours at an intoxicated drivers' resource center. A two-day jail sentence was suspended by Judge Anich.

Fined $70 each for speeding were Mark A. Ozer, 19 Heritage Boulevard, and Eileen L. Solin, 5 Jarrett Court, Princeton Junction. Melanie L. Jacobson, 65 Harrison Street, paid $75 for a stop sign violation.

Deer Struck In Borough

The Township has been trying to cope with too many deer for years — there were 176 deer-auto accidents there last year — but the problem spilled over into the Borough last week.

Shortly before noon Friday, at one of the Borough's busiest intersections — Nassau and Witherspoon Streets — a young deer darted in front of a van operated by Joseph Demko of Trenton.

There was no damage to the van but the deer was killed. The carcass was disposed of by Princeton's Small Animal Officer Al Heavener.

"On occasion, deer come into town," commented Capt. Peter Hanley.

Kristin M. Knittel will lead off the Mozart series with "Mozart: The Man, The Performer, The Composer." This lecture will deal in broad outline with a life which was crammed with accomplishment, lived on the fringes of wealth and power, and which had its dark and tragic side. Ms. Knittel is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Music at Princeton University.

Those attending any of the lecture series may wish to register for the whole series, or may prefer to purchase a ticket to any individual lecture at the door.

Alcohol Abuse Program Focus of Joint Study

Family Service is sponsoring a joint research program with Rutgers to study the impact of the Intoxicated Driver Research Center program (I.D.R.C.) on the future conduct of persons who go through this Family Service program. Started in 1980, the I.D.R.C. program consists of two individual and 16 group sessions conducted on a weekly basis to educate individuals about alcohol as a drug and its effects, and to help persons evaluate their own drinking or abuse patterns and the personal problems which result. Participants in the program have been arrested for driving under the influence and are mandated to go through the program if they wish to obtain their suspended driver's license.

The purpose of the study is to evaluate the effectiveness of the program with regard to changes in lifestyle; recidivism rate; and effect of knowledge about alcohol on such areas as personal health, family relationships, work, and legal conflicts.

The study will be conducted at Family Service by Mary Sullivan, counseling and research intern under the research supervision of Prof. Isabel Woloch, research chairperson of the Rutgers Graduate School of Social

To burn off the 1120 calories in this pastrami sandwich, a 150-pound man would have to walk nearly 12 miles.

How far would you walk for a pastrami sandwich?

A 120-pound woman would have to walk 10 miles to work off the 840 calories in a cup of peanuts. Or she could have popcorn and only have to walk around the block, since it has just 23 calories a cup.

The right information helps you make informed food choices to maintain weight loss. Let's say you chose two pieces of whole wheat toast with jam every morning instead of a plain doughnut - you'd save 18 pounds a year.

Lace up your walking shoes and stretch your legs. Because the fact is, you'd have to walk almost 12 miles to burn off the calories in one pastrami sandwich. But eat a turkey sandwich, which is just a quarter of the calories, and you'd only have to go a few miles.

In that simple fact lies the essence of the HMR Weight Management Program. That by learning the skills necessary, you can balance food calories and exercise calories to manage your weight for life.

Fruits and vegetables are good snack foods because you can eat a lot without having a lot of calories. A banana, for example has only 25 calories an ounce, and watermelon has just 10.

Through a nutritionally complete diet of supplements and entrees, HMR can help you reach your goal weight quickly and safely. And through a proven maintenance program, supervised by health care professionals, you'll learn to balance food calories with physical activity, in a way that still lets you enjoy the foods you like, without having to become an athlete.

If you're concerned about your weight take the most important step of your life. Walk to your phone and all the HMR Weight Management Program.

One of the most important things clients learn is the relationship of exercise to diet. Physical activity helps you burn calories and allows you to eat more without gaining weight.

Overnight Parking Law Introduced at Council

An ordinance providing limited overnight parking to Borough residents living outside the Central Business District who do not have a driveway was introduced at last week's Council meeting. A public hearing will be held February 12.

Several in the audience objected to the cost of the necessary permit, $15 each quarter. Mayor Marvin Reed pointed out, however, that this was the same cost as residents of the Central Business District pay for parking overnight in municipal lots.

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra voted against introduction, stating she considered this a land use ordinance affecting planning and zoning in the Borough, and it was thus imperative to get the input of the Planning Board and the Zoning Board.

She added she would also like input from the Fire Department, since she had concerns about safety issues. It appeared that fire officials would be asked to speak at the public hearing.

In other business, Council changed the time of its meetings to 8 p.m. The governing body had met at 7:30 for the first three meetings in January.

Mayor Reed, who was in favor of the 7:30 opening, warned Council that he might have to call extra meetings to deal with all the items on the agenda.

Council also changed its third monthly meeting date from the fourth to the third Tuesday of each month.

Meetings to discuss the Borough's 1991 municipal budget were scheduled for February 6, 11, and 13. They will begin at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall.

In addition, meetings on the joint agency budgets are planned with Township Committee on Saturday, February 16, and Saturday, February 23, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Valley Road building.

Settlement Is Reached With Health Inspector

The Regional Health Commission has reached an out-of-court settlement with Drew Scalessa, who was fired by the Health Department a year ago. Mr. Scalessa had sued the Borough and Health Commission in March to regain his job as sanitary inspector and for lost wages, benefits, and other remuneration.

In the settlement, Mr. Scalessa has agreed to drop all charges. According to Michael Herbert, attorney for the Health Commission, the settlement does not involve payment of any kind from the Borough.

Princeton Democrats Set Pot Luck Supper Sunday

The public is invited to the Princeton Community Democratic Organization's annual pot luck supper where Dr. Neil Upmeyer will speak on "New Jersey Politics — Democratic Prospects for Victory in '91". It will be held Sunday at 6 p.m. at the Unitarian Church.

Dr. Upmeyer is president of

Tax Help for Seniors

The Senior Resource Center is again sponsoring free tax assistance to senior citizens in the Princeton area beginning February 4 and continuing until April 15. VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) volunteers will tackle all manner of tax problems.

Persons receiving the over-65 homestead tax exemption must sign and return a tax form every year, according to a recent change in the law. Even though many people do not usually have to file income tax, they must file this year in order to receive a rebate.

The volunteers will be available at the Senior Resource Center on Mondays from 1 to 4 and Thursdays from 6 to 9. Both state and federal income tax assistance will be available.

Call the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108 for an appointment.

the Center for Analysis of Public Issues and the editor of the Center's monthly magazine, New Jersey Reporter. He was previously vice president of the Gallup Organization, where he was responsible for public affairs research projects. He also has worked on the national staff of Common Cause.

In 1983, he won journalism awards from the Society of Professional Journalists and the New Jersey State Bar Association for The Sunshine Boys, a study about the relation between lobbying and campaign financing in New Jersey.

If planning to attend, call Pam Enslin at 924-1459.

Open House Saturday at Princeton Day School

Princeton Day School will hold an open house for prospective students and their parents on Saturday beginning at 10. The school is located on The Great Road.

Members of the student admission committee will be on hand to give tours of the facilities. PDS is an independent, co-educational school which enrolls students from junior kindergarten through the 12th grade.

Upper, middle and lower school heads, Arthur Aaronson, Mary Williams and Sara Schwiebert, will moderate panel discussions which will be focused on their divisions.

Refreshments will be served throughout the morning and admission materials will be available to visitors.

Further information may be obtained by calling the admission office at 924-6700, extension 234.

New Night, Bigger Room For Growing Cabaret

Success has prompted Cafe Improv, the monthly open stage cabaret at the Arts Council building, to change its schedule.

Cafe Improv has been convening on the fourth Friday of the month at the Arts Council building since last April. Area musicians have found the audience attentive, and the monthly cabaret has been well received. A larger room is now needed.

Cafe Improv will switch to the fourth Saturday of the month. It will have the use of the upstairs auditorium at the Arts Council, a room that can easily accommodate the crowds that have regularly gathered at the monthly meetings. The next meeting will be Saturday, February 23.

Teen Sexuality Program Receives Education Grant

The HiTops program has been awarded $10,000 from the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Charitable Trust to use towards the prevention of teen pregnancy and the spread of sexually transmitted diseases, including AIDS.

In addition to clinical care, HiTops promotes sexual responsibility by providing educational workshops and presentations in community schools, churches, organizations and agencies as well as at the HiTops center on Tulane Street. The members of the HiTops Teen Council receive intensive training in the fall and then offer volunteer informational services regarding adolescent health issues throughout the school year.

The HiTops Teen Council made a presentation at the Fifth Annual Peer Group Connection's Urban-Suburban Conference at the Hyatt in New Brunswick recently. Sponsored by the Princeton Center for Leadership Training, this con-

Space Forum Planned On Princeton Campus

The Princeton Planetary Society, a student-run chapter of the National Space Society, will hold its third annual Princeton space forum Monday, February 11, starting at 7:30 in Richardson Auditorium. The title of the forum is "Moon, Mars and Beyond," and the purpose is to discuss policy options now being considered by the Bush administration for America's space program.

Participants include John Bahcall, professor of natural science at the Institute for Advanced Study and president of the American Astronomical Society; James R. Thompson Jr., deputy administrator of

Commission on Aging Receives $5,000 Grant

The Joint Commission on Aging has been awarded a grant from The Curtis W. McGraw Foundation for $5,000. Elizabeth Webster, president of the foundation, in awarding the grant, said that it "is to be treated as a special trust fund for specific projects to be agreed on by the Commission on Aging and the officers of the Foundation, subject to the approval of those specific purposes by the Princeton Borough Council and the Princeton Township Committee."

Gertrude Dubrovsky, Chair of the commission, will appoint a committee of commission

First Light, the subject of an upcoming PBS documentary, features Princeton University astronomers and tells the story of Mt. Palomar's Hale telescope. American Steel, which will be released soon, deals with the attempt of a maverick company to restore this country's steel industry. Mr. Preston's books have been compared to the work of John McPhee for their novelistic pacing and readability.

Slides of the Hale telescope will be shown, and copies of First Light will be available for signing. Refreshments will be served. For reservations and information call 737-3735.

Open House Scheduled By the Latin Academy

Princeton Latin Academy will hold registration week beginning with an Open House on Sunday, February 10, from 2 to 4.

The Academy is now accepting applications for September, 1991. Interested parents are invited to observe classes and talk to the staff during the week of February 11 to 14. The school, a co-educational, non-denominational institute offering grades K-12, has a unique curriculum and a class ratio of 10 children to one teacher.

Headmaster Francesco Perulli will give a talk on "The Crisis of Education." Refreshments will be served. For more information call 924-2206. The school is located at Rambling Pines Day Camp on Route 518 east of Route 31 in Hopewell.

Canal Pointe Open House For Most Units on Market

On Sunday, from 1 to 4, almost all of the condominiums on the market at Canal Pointe will be open for inspection, and the realtors will serve light refreshments at each of their units.

Each unit contains its own deck or patio. There are pools, tennis courts, and a clubhouse for recreation, and the Market-Fair shopping center is within walking distance.

Couple Book Authors To Speak at Rutgers

A program featuring couples who collaborate on children's books will take place at Rutgers' Jane Voorhees Zimmerli Art Museum on Saturday. It will run from 2 to 5 p.m. at the museum, which is at the corner of George and Hamilton streets in New Brunswick.

"Collaborating Couples: Artists, Authors and Children's Books" will open with a historical overview of post-World War II American children's literature by Kay Vandergrift, a professor of library and information studies at Rutgers and chairwoman of the Rutgers Ad-

Wende and Harry Devlin are the creators of such best-sellers as How Fletcher Was Hatched, and Jan and Stan Berens-tain are well-known for their Berenstain Bear books.

At 3:45, psychologist Martha Fried-Cassorla will question the collaborating couples about how they work together. The discussion will be followed by a tour of an exhibit at the Zimmerli of Harry Devlin's illustrations and a book-signing by the Devlins and the Berens-tains.

The program is being held in conjunction with the exhibit, "Harry Devlin: Illustrations for Children's Literature." It is free and open to the public. Pre-registration is requested and can be done by calling (908) 932-7237.

The Child Health Clinic Moves to Familyborn

The Regional Health Department has announced that the Child Health Conference Clinic for infants and preschool age children will relocate to Familyborn, 21 Wiggins Street, effective February 7. It was previously held at the Valley Road building.

The clinic operates on the first and third Thursdays of each month between 9 and 11:30 a.m. Dr. Peter J. Salerno provides medical supervision. Nursing services are provided by the Princeton Medical Center's Department of Home Care.

Infants and preschool age children up to 7 years of age are routinely seen at the clinic. Mothers are counseled on the proper nutritional, physical, emotional, mental and social development of their children. Medical services provided include physical examinations, temperature, weight, height, head and chest measurements. Also, childhood immunizations such as diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, measles, rubella, mumps and polio are administered. Tuberculin testing and hemoglobins are also performed. Family medical histories are recorded by the nurse and discussed with the pediatrician prior to each child's examination. Hearing tests and Denver Developmental screenings are also performed on children, as necessary.

The clinic is open to all residents of Princeton Borough and Township regardless of income. To arrange an appointment, call the Department of Home Care at 497-4900.

Surplus Property Sale

In the market for a typewriter stand on rollers, or maybe a fruit juice machine? Other machines — such as paint, tire, and leaf — will also be up for grabs when the Borough holds its auction of surplus property.

Sealed bids will be received by the Borough administrator up to 11 a.m. on Wednesday, February 6, when they will be publicly opened and read aloud. Specifications and proposal sheets are available from the office of the Borough administrator until 11 a.m. Tuesday.

A viewing date to inspect surplus property and vehicles — the latter including two 1977 Ford Mavericks, two 1985 Ford dump trucks, and a 1980 Chevrolet Citation — will be Saturday from 9 to 1 at the Sewer Operating Committee site, River Road.

Bids must be on proposal sheets furnished by the Borough, enclosed in a sealed envelope, and addressed to Mark S. Gordon, Borough Administrator, P.O. Box 390, 1 Monument Drive, Princeton 08542, and plainly marked on the outside, "Sale of Surplus Property and Vehicles."

Volunteers Are Sought For UJA Telethon Calls

Volunteers are needed to make phone calls on Super Sunday, Sunday February 3. Super Sunday, a community-wide telethon, is the largest fund raising endeavor for the Princeton Area United Jewish Appeal.

The campaign benefits Jewish social service needs around the world, in Israel and, locally, the Abrams Hebrew Academy, Congregation Beth Chaim, West Windsor, Commission on Jewish Education, Greenwood House, Home for the Jewish Aged, Jewish Family Service, Princeton University Hillel, Princeton Jewish Center, Temple Beth El, East Windsor and Solomon Schechter Day School.

The telethon will be held at the Merrill Lynch Corporate Campus, 800 Scudders Mill Road, Plainsboro, from 9 to 2. Breakfast, orientation and training are included. There will also be a drawing to win a roundtrip ticket to Israel and other prizes.

For further information, call Jeri Zimmerman, executive director, 243-9440.

PRINCETON FRIENDS SCHOOL students Karim Groves, left, and Chris Harris settle down with books during the daily half hour of independent reading. The school will hold an open house for prospective parents on Saturday at 3. The program will include the showing of a film on Friends education and description of the programs that Princeton Friends now offers to children in grades 1 through 8, as well as plans for a Beginning School which will open in September for four, five and six year olds. Call 683-1194 to make a reservation or for more information.

PEOPLE In the News

Tim Ransom, son of Nick and Ruth Wilson of Montadale Circle, was seen on a recent ABC Monday night television movie called The Lost to Go, starring Tyne Daly. He played the son Toby in a family saga that covered several generations.

Mr. Ransom may also be seen this Sunday and Monday in the Custer epic, Son of the Morning Star, adapted from the novel by Evan Connell and starring Gary Coles. He plays Tom Custer, younger brother of George Armstrong Custer. Filmed last summer in Montana, the television movie will be shown on ABC channels.

Also, from Lawrenceville, Erik D. Sherman, 6 Pine Knoll Drive; Marian J. Stoddard, 15 West Long Drive.

Ethan Hawke, son of Leslie Hawke of Princeton Junction, stars in the movie White Fang, an adaptation of two Jack London adventures stories now playing at Mercer Mall Cinema.

Mr. Hawke's first film role was playing the introverted student in Dead Poets Society with Robin Williams as an innovative teacher. He also was a featured performer in Dod, with Ted Danson.

In White Fang, he plays young Jack Conroy who goes to Alaska in the 1890s to take over his father's gold-mining claim. In the company of another prospector he makes the difficult journey to his father's camp, and in the course of this journey rescues the dog White Fang from an abusive fellow named Beauty Smith. The movie was filmed in Alaska.

James J. Pascale, Township Administrator, has been elected to serve on the executive board of the New Jersey Municipal Management Association, Inc.

In 1990, Mr. Pascale served as the chair of the Legislative Committee. Previously, he served as chair of the Awards Committee and as chair of the Spring Conference, as well as having been a guest speaker and moderator at several seminars at the annual League of Municipalities Conference. He was also a 1990 Outstanding Managers Award finalist.

Sarah Beatty, a student at Princeton Day School, is one of 13 co-authors of 150 Ways Teens Can Make a Difference, to be published in May by Peterson's Guides.

She was chosen from a group of more than 5,000 candidates from throughout the northeast who had filled out informational surveys for Peterson's Guides, publisher of education and career resource guides. The 13 co-authors were invited to New York City to discuss their volunteer activities within their schools and communities and to give advice to teens across the nation about volunteerism.

Adlai Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Small, 277 Hawthorne Avenue, has earned honor roll standing for the fall semester at The Gunnery, a college preparatory school in Washington, Conn. He is a senior.

Pvt. Lee E. Hyman, son of Joel Hyman, 20 Vandeventer Avenue, has completed the cavalry scout course at Fort Knox, Ky.

Students received basic combat and reconnaissance training, camouflage and concealment, communications, demolitions, and first aid.

Stephen P. McNamara, of Lawrenceville, has joined Berkowsky and Associates, Inc., Monmouth Junction, as a project manager in the construction department. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Brown University.

Salisbury State University student Cheryl A. Recchia, of Princeton, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester. She is a senior majoring in physical education at the Maryland school.

Old Epstein Building Not Designed to Be Library

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Public Library:

The Princeton Public Library is neither a warehouse nor a department store. It was designed by a distinguished architect, Thaddeus Longstreth, who carefully researched the functions of a library and designed the building to best fulfill these. The fact that the library has so successfully served its public that it now requires expansion should not become the reason for its demise. The old shopping center department store, gussied up, just will not do.

The library was placed very deliberately to be accessible to the considerable number of people living near the center of town who do not own cars. It was also designed to be and has become one of the cultural anchors of the community's heart.

The difference between Princeton and many of its neighboring municipalities is that Princeton is not a bedroom community with a school and a mall but a real town with an historic town center.

Parking near the library certainly presents problems but surely it should not be the crucial problem addressed when contemplating the library's expansion. I grew up in New York City and, from the age of 5, accepted long walks to the public library as a natural part of my weekly routines. Parking need not be immediately adjacent to the building. It is not onerous to park in other areas of town and walk a few blocks.

To move the library from its present location strikes one as incredibly short-sighted and, in the end, would begin the unravelling of Princeton as I think most of us would like to preserve it, with cultural and business activities existing in a lively and animated town center day and night.

Please take the long and historic view when you make your fateful decision.

PCH Thanked for Efforts On Affordable Housing

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter sent to Koy Bretnall, president, Princeton Community Housing:

The Interfaith Housing Committee of Princeton wishes to express its sincere gratitude to Princeton Community Housing for the huge contribution PCH has made to affordable housing in the Princeton area.

In particular we would like to thank you and Princeton Township for having created the Griggs Farm development. The homes built there have already made an important and meaningful contribution to the lives of the people who are lucky enough to live there.

The collapse of the housing market and the subsequent problem in selling the market rate units was not foreseen by anyone. Princeton Community Housing's management of the development in the face of this unforeseen circumstance has been very responsible. You have made the best of a difficult situation.

Chambers Cafe Closing Will Generate "Fall-out"

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a letter which I have sent to Arthur Collins of the Collins Development Corp.

Greetings to you. If one-quarter of the folk who initiated the thought that they should write to you do so, some of the following concerns will have much "airing." We lament the closing of Chambers Walk Cafe. You are, of course, conversant with the excellent food, the nutritional wisdom, the delightful spirit and the splendid management by Mario Mangione and his colleagues.

An element of concern for everybody is the "fall-out" which this closing guarantees. In 20 to 30 minutes a fine luncheon can be selected and eaten, giving folk up to half an hour to browse and shop. I am only one of scores and scores who came "downtown" because of Chambers Walk, despite the difficulty of parking.

When I told a friend of the demise of Chambers Walk, she surprised me by saying what a disappointment this will be to her daughter who came to Princeton with friends twice a week from Yardley, Pa., to dine and then to shop. They and I will now head to malls and shopping centers.

If I were a merchant in the Palmer Square area, or a prospective shop owner, I would be alarmed at what seems like an unwise "business" decision, one in which the significance of a going enterprise matters little.

Of course, in addition to the "bottom line" penny-wise, pound-foolish, the closing of Chambers Walk shuts off a gathering spot where friendships grew, conversations were valuable and something was available to eat for many levels of appetite and purse. There is nothing comparable and a "Main Street," if it comes, is no alternative in cost or style.

You will make many people of town and gown and beyond tremendously happy if you take the initiative to secure this time as only a brief sabbatical for Mario and his incomparable enterprise.

Rent Was a Problem For Chambers Cafe

To the Editor, Town Topics:

As the corporation responsible for operating and maintaining historic Palmer Square, we must sometimes make very tough decisions. One of these decisions was made recently when we released the popular Chambers Walk Cafe from any lease obligations with us.

Since its closing we have received numerous letters from dedicated patrons who cannot understand why the Cafe had to leave. There is really only one reason: Chambers Walk Cafe could not live up to its lease agreement.

There were several months during 1990 that we accepted late rent payments ... or no payment from Chambers Walk. This, very simply, is not fair to the Square's paying tenants.

Our retailers sign their leases upon opening with the expectation their gross incomes will enable them to cover their rent and other obligations. Any business owner does. And like any other shopping district, Palmer Square rents are decided primarily according to square footage (the size of the space), the length of the lease, and desirability of location.

We regret losing Chambers Walk Cafe and wish them every success in their new location, and only hope we can secure a new tenant that will be as warmly received by the people of Princeton.

expand Princeton services to the frail elderly, continue supportive services to family members of chemically addicted clients, provide counseling to families affected by the Gulf war, and employ a clinical supervisor for the Princeton office. The board and staff of Family Service are deeply appreciative and the families we serve, especially so.

At the same time, we wish to acknowledge with considerable appreciation as well a further first-time gift of $2,500 from the Mary Kathryn Black McKenzie Charitable Trust in support of services to the Princeton area.

Holiday in Princeton A Smashing Success

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that the holidays have come and gone, it is a time for thanks to those who assisted in making "An Old Fashioned Holiday in Princeton" such a smashing success.

"An Old Fashioned Holiday in Princeton" was truly a community-wide effort which was totally funded by well over 70 local companies. Our town was beautifully decorated from Borough Hall to Judy's Flower Shop on Nassau Street, with trees, wreaths and bows.

The Christmas Stroll which attracted hundreds of our local community (including Governor and Mrs. Florio) helped make this year's treelighting the most exciting yet! All this coupled with horses and carriages clapping on our streets, hot chocolate and chestnuts, beautiful holiday music, breakfast with St. Nick, fashion show, story telling, as well as the tying in of all local performances and charities within our master calendar, which was widely distributed, made this exciting five week period of time pass quickly. "An Old Fashioned Holiday in Princeton" enhanced our charming and special town which was enjoyed by all Princetonians, while greatly assisting our local business community.

As the Chairman of this year's "An Old Fashioned Holiday in Princeton," I would like to thank the following major contributors for making this community spirited event happen. They are: Jessica Blais and Ray Shepard of the Nassau Inn, Ray Wadsworth and the Borough Merchants of Princeton, Alice Miller and McCarter Theatre, Trenton Times, Princeton Packet, TOWN TOPICS, Trust Company of Princeton, Princeton Airport, United Jersey Bank, Church and Dwight, Princeton Businessmen's Association, Hult's Shoes, Triangle Repro Center and Collins Development/Palmer Square. In addition, I would like to thank Mayor Reed and the Council for their support in allowing us to do this event.

As last year's event has come and gone, there will be no rest for the weary, as we will start our plans for the second annual "An Old Fashioned Holiday in Princeton" in February.

IT'S NEW To Us

A New Look and Menu Comes to Andy's Tavern

Andy's Tavern has a new look, a new menu and a new addition to its name. Since September, La Cucina Rustica (rustic kitchen) has been the designation of the establishment's restaurant.

The Alexander Street tavern has a long history in Princeton. "We have longevity, continuity and tradition," says Guy Fasanella, whose family has owned Andy's since 1946. "The tavern has been in continuous operation since 1905," he explains. "In 1911, Andy O'Hara bought it — thus the name — and it remained in the O'Hara family until 1946, when my father purchased it."

"It's been at the same location since it began," he continues, "and as best we can determine, the frame of the outside sign is the original."

The Fasanellas recently decided to expand the food operation, and as he explains, "We wanted to offer a different presentation of the food and offer more variety. Customers will also notice the renovations that have been done with the decor. The bar has stayed the same, though. There are still the pictures of the University football and basketball teams, and the atmosphere is the same. We still get a good bar crowd."

The rest of the tavern has undergone a noticeable change, however. There is a lighter look to the decor, and in particular, the menu has been transformed. This is due to chef-managers Raymond Goeke and Colleen Suozzo, who are in charge of the kitchen.

Italian Cuisine Offered

"We offer Italian cuisine," says Mr. Goeke, "including sophisticated dishes that taste good. We emphasize fresh ingredients, and all our sauces are sautéed to order. None are prepared ahead. Every dish is made to order. We also fill special requests whenever we can at the table."

Both Mr. Goeke and Mrs. Suozzo are from Chambersburg and had worked in restaurants in the Mercerville area. They were happy to have a chance to add a new touch to Andy's. "Working with someone I'm friends with makes a lot of difference," notes Mrs. Suozzo. "I think we make a great team!"

Adds Mr. Goeke, "We both spent a lot of time in the business. We knew what we wanted to do. I love to cook and please people. I enjoy cooking for others. It's like being an artist and producing an art form that provides instant gratification. This is something I always wanted to do."

He has been cooking since he was 14, he recalls. "I've had a lot of hands-on experience. I had a mother who gave me a real appreciation of food, and of many different types of food. I have studied inside a lot of kitchens. Part of the fun is experimenting and creating."

Customers so far have been delighted with La Cucina Rustica's cuisine. "There has been a terrific response," says Mrs. Suozzo. "It's really been overwhelming. People were ready for a change, but they liked the atmosphere. The name and food are different, but we still have the same casual tavern-type of atmosphere."

TEMPTING THE PALATE: "This is a very personalized kind of business. Food is fun. It should be enjoyed!" That is the philosophy of Raymond Goeke and Colleen Suozzo, who are the overseers of the food operation at Andy's Tavern/La Cucina Rustica on Alexander Street. The new chef-managers of the long-time tavern leased the food facilities last September and have introduced a new menu.

"We offer a lot of regional specialties with seafood, meat and chicken. We have expanded the number of fish, pasta and chicken dishes," comments Mr. Goeke. "Some of the customers' favorites have been Vodka Rigatoni, which is fresh pasta, cooked al dente and sautéed with prosciutto in our vodka cream sauce; La Cucina Rustica Linguini, with shrimp, scallops, mussels, clams and lobster over linguini; and Greek pork chops done in sherry sauce, with peppers, onions and potatoes."

"Ray is known for his Clams Casino," says Mrs. Suozzo. "We also have fresh baked salmon, and pasta with garlic and oil are very popular now."

Lighter Fare

People are often interested in lighter food today, she adds. "Salads and vegetables are popular, and we have a chopped antipasto salad with honey Dijon vinaigrette dressing (our house dressing) that is a real favorite."

Lunch and dinner are served at La Cucina Rustica, and Mr. Goeke and Mrs. Suozzo are pleased that the restaurant is popular with families. "We try to accommodate children and will prepare smaller portions when possible. We certainly welcome children," says Mr. Goeke.

Adds Mrs. Suozzo, "Our prices are such that people can afford to bring their children. Lunches are $3.95 to $6.95 and dinner $6.95 and up. $12.95 is typical. Each entree also includes salad, bread and choice of vegetable or pasta."

"We also have some super desserts," she continues. "Chocolate Volcano, which is a brownie topped with chocolate fudge and walnuts and drizzled with chocolate and white chocolate, is very popular. Also, our chocolate bread pudding is real special. It is served in a fantasy glass and topped with a vanilla cream and brandy sauce. Chocolate desserts are the hottest, but apple pie is also popular, and on the lighter side we have lemon cake and lemon mousse. Cappuccino and espresso are also available."

Both she and Mr. Goeke are encouraged by the many repeat customers who have been enjoying the restaurant. "We provide personal service, a friendly and comfortable atmosphere, and the quality and quantity of the food are special," says Mr. Goeke. "I enjoy Italian cooking and offering a custom menu at reasonable prices, and customers are responding."

Adds Mrs. Suozzo, "People are never rushed here. They can relax and take their time. This is not fast food. You can't come in and get out in a half-hour. The dishes are made to order. We're a small restaurant, and also when customers come once, they are always remembered when they come back again."

La Cucina Rustica provides a complete off-premises catering service, and private parties are welcomed at the restaurant.

Reservations are definitely recommended on weekends, and hours are Monday through Friday 11 to 3 for lunch, Monday through Saturday 5 to 11 for dinner, and 4 to 9 for Sunday dinner.

Up-Dated Classic Styles Highlight J. McLaughlin

The arrival of J. McLaughlin last December has brought a new neighborhood store to Witherspoon Street, says manager Liz Howard. "The focus of our store is on the neighborhood," she explains. "That neighborhood feeling is important in Princeton, and owners Jay and Kevin McLaughlin have made a commitment here. They have bought the building and are looking forward to a long relationship with Princeton."

The McLaughlin brothers have had a successful career in retail over the last 14 years. They own four stores in Manhattan and one in Westport, Conn., all of which emphasize classic styles of men's and women's clothing with a contemporary look.

"The clothes are very traditional but with an eye toward European fashion," reports Miss Howard. "Everything has an updated flair. Sixty percent of our merchandise is women's clothes and 40% men's, and all ages can find something here. Quality is always foremost. Every piece of goods is of very high quality."

"The workmanship on each piece of clothing is special," she continues. "All our clothes are very comfortable, as well as fashionable. For example, just the tiniest detail about the way the shoulders and collars fit on a jacket can make such a big difference."

J. McLaughlin carries a variety of women's sportswear, including skirts, jackets, hand-knit sweaters, blouses, pants and some outerwear. Such accessories as belts, gloves, scarves and sterling silver jewelry are also available.

The emphasis is on informal and comfortable fashions, and Miss Howard stresses their versatility. "Women can definitely wear our clothes to work or out to dinner later. Our separates include matching skirts and jackets that can be worn as a suit. We lean somewhat toward a dressier style for women than for men."

"Another item that is very

FASHION FLAIR: "Our clothes are special to J. McLaughlin. Everything is private label and hand-selected by the owners and a buyer," says Liz Howard, manager of J. McLaughlin. The new men's and women's clothing store at 17 Witherspoon Street features fashions of traditional American informality and flair blended with European styling.

versatile is the 'Boyfriend' jacket," she continues. "It's great with short skirts, long skirts, pants or jeans. We also have wonderful cashmere blazers with shawl collars and some double-breasted blazers. And we have a lot of suede, including jeans, as well as Nu Buck, which is so soft."

Bright Colors for Spring

The look for spring highlights bright colors, she reports. "Our spring palette has a lot of bright pinks, reds, oranges, yellows and greens. Also, 90% of the skirts are just a touch above the knee in length. We have some straight long skirts and a few full long ones. The southwest style in long suede is great with boots."

Sales of men's clothes have also been very strong since the store opened, says Miss Howard. The selection of sports jackets, blazers, sweaters, shirts and corduroy and khaki pants has been a big attraction, and such accessories as ties and braces have been popular.

Men's fashion doesn't change as much as women's, she adds, and ties are one of the areas in which men can add some variety to their wardrobe. "We have a fantastic selection of ties, and men are becoming more at ease wearing ties that are not so conservative. We have all sorts of ties, from muted shades to bright reds, mustards and lots of prints."

"Braces are also popular," she continues, "and we have novelty silk braces with bull and bear motif, which are great for stockbrokers. We also have braces with skull and bones designs and many others."

Prices cover a wide range at J. McLaughlin, and a special sale, with savings of more than 50%, is in progress through the beginning of February. Corduroy pants are $55, men's shirts $51, sweaters $70 and up, skirts $25 and up, embroidered cotton turtlenecks $30, ties $27 to $50 and belts $50 and up.

"We also have a lot of $300 cashmere and wool blazers at $129," reports Miss Howard. "There are also men's sports jackets with hand-sewn shoulders for $99. These were $325 and are a great buy."

Ambiance of Men's Club

Customers have also been very enthusiastic about the look of the store, as well as with its merchandise. A variety of intriguing "props" — such as large, well-used trunks and suitcases, worn leather chairs, old ice skates, sleds, snow shoes, fishing rods, croquet sets, polo mallets and riding boots — suggests the ambiance both of a men's club and a college dormitory room from times past. Chandeliers, Oriental rugs, attractive sofas and a fireplace enhance the women's department.

Pleasing customers is paramount at J. McLaughlin, and Miss Howard looks forward to welcoming visitors to the store. "Customer service is number one here. I love dealing with customers and helping them. I always try to be accessible and here for them."

"Also, we'll be doing some special things. For instance, we have a 'Birthday Register' for Princeton University students. If they sign our birthday book and include their size and parents' address, we'll check with their parents beforehand, and arrange for a birthday care package for them, which we will wrap and deliver."

"I really hope this will be the best store in Princeton," she adds. "I love my job and what I do. I want to know the people in town, and I hope we will be a real neighborhood store."

J. McLaughlin is open Monday through Saturday 9:30 to 5:30, Thursday until 8 and Sunday 12 to 5.

News of the THEATRES

Two Theater Companies Plan Three-Play Season

Princeton Repertory Co. and Loaves & Fish Theater Co. of Jersey City will co-produce three plays at their respective locations during the coming season. Both are professional Actors' Equity companies.

The season will open February 1, with Athol Fugard's The Blood Knot, presented at St. Peter's College, Jersey City. After a three weekend run in Jersey City, the play will be at Triangle-Broadmead Theatre, 171 Broadmead, weekends from February 22 through March 10.

Blood Knot is the story of two South African brothers, one black and one white, who fight to preserve their love in a society in which their mere association is a crime. The play is set in Port Elizabeth, Mr. Fugard's home town.

In April, the New Jersey premiere of the Michael Frayn comedy Alphabetical Order will open in Princeton. Mr. Frayn is the author of Noises Off. Alphabetical Order is a comedy about the beleaguered newspaper staff of a provincial British newspaper.

In June the two companies will present the New Jersey premiere of Mario Vargas Llosa's provocative drama Lo Chungo in Princeton. In 1988, Mr. Vargas Llosa, a well-known novelist, ran as the Libertad Party candidate for

Players Stage Comedy

Princeton Community Players will present Rick Abbot's comedy Play On at the Triangle-Broadmead Theatre, 171 Broadmead, starting this Friday.

Performances are on Friday and Saturday at 8 through February 16. There will also be a matinee Sunday, February 10, at 2.

Tickets are $10 minimum for all performances, except for this Friday and the Sunday matinee when they are $7.50. Group rates and senior citizen rates are available.

For reservations call 921-6314.

the presidency of Peru. Lo Chungo is a mysterious tale set in post World War II Peru in which a bar owner and a small time gangster come into conflict.

Princeton performance dates for The Blood Knot are February 22 through March 10. Performances are Friday at 8, Saturday at 2 and 8 and Sunday at 2.

Ticket prices are $15 general admission, at $12 for seniors, students and teachers. The group rate for 10 or more is $10, and children under the age of 12 are admitted for $5.

Creative Theatre Classes In West Windsor Schools

Creative Theatre, a non-profit theater-in-education organization based in Princeton, will offer branch classes this winter through the West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Education Department.

In keeping with Creative Theatre's mission, the classes will be process-oriented, encouraging students to express their ideas, develop imagination and creativity and build self-confidence. Drama classes will be held Tuesdays from 3:30 to 4:30 at the Wicoff and Dutch Neck schools for grades one through three. On Thursdays from 3:30 to 4:30, a drama class will be offered at the Maurice Hawk School, also for grades one through three.

An acting class for fourth to sixth graders will be held Thursdays at the West Windsor-Plainsboro Upper Elementary School. Classes begin Tuesday and run through March 21. The cost is $40. To register, call Peg Howe at the West Windsor Plainsboro Community Education office, 452-2185.

For further information on Creative Theatre, call Jean Prall at 924-3489.

Moliere Comedy Readied By Rutgers Theater

The Misanthrope, Moliere's sardonic study of life in the court of Louis XIV, will open Friday, February 8 and run through Sunday, February 24 in the Philip J. Levin Theater of Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18, New Brunswick.

There will be a preview Thursday, February 7, at 8. Regular performances will be Tuesdays through Saturdays at 8, and Sundays at 2.

The title character, Alceste, according to director William Esper, is one of the most complex heroes in literature. "He is at the mercy of two obsessions:

the need to speak the truth and a love for Celimene, a flighty, superficial young woman who represents everything he hates," Mr. Esper said.

Poet Richard Wilbur's translation of the play will be used. The Rutgers production is set in the 1660s and features the elaborate costumes of the time.

Cast members include Tom Hildreth and Dina Spybey in the lead roles. Also in the cast are Del Pentecost, Tim McGee, Gillian Lynch, Lori Kenan, Bjorn Teheran and Jeff Ingman.

Tickets are $12 for general admission, $11 for people 63 years and older and Rutgers faculty and staff, and $7 for Rutgers students. For information or to charge tickets by phone, call the Rutgers arts ticket office, (908) 932-7511.

Next on Concert Series
The Emerson String Quartet, assisted by basset clarinetist David Shifrin, will be heard Thursday, February 7, at 8 at Richardson Auditorium. The program is the fourth event in the "Chamber Masterworks Series" of Princeton University Concerts' 1990-91 season. The Emerson Quartet appears in virtually every important series and festival in the world, performing more than 100 concerts each season. The ensemble was founded in 1976 at The Juilliard School in New York where all of its members were students. The name was chosen in tribute to the philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Still based in New York City, the Quartet is comprised of violinists Eugene Drucker and Philip Setzer (who alternate first chair), violist Lawrence Dutton, and violoncellist David Finckel. For its Princeton program, the Emerson Quartet has selected three works: the Quartet in E-flat Major, Opus 64, no. 6 by Franz Joseph Haydn; the First Quartet of Bela Bartok; and the Clarinet Quintet of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, K.581. For the Mozart, the Emersons will be joined by David Shifrin, who will perform on the basset clarinet for which many scholars believe the work was originally composed. The Quartet made history in 1990 as the first chamber ensemble ever to win two of the recording industry's highest honors: the coveted Grammy Award for Best Classical Album, and Gramophone Magazine's Record of the Year Award. In 1987, clarinetist David Shifrin was chosen to receive one of the Avery Fisher Career Grants. He is currently a member of the faculty of Yale University, and previously has served on the faculties of The Juilliard School, UCLA and the University of Michigan. Although the Chamber Masterworks Series is sold out by subscription, a few tickets returned by subscribers for resale may be available several days before the performance through the Richardson Auditorium box office. A limited number of obstructed-view tickets priced at $9 will be available on the day of the performance only. More information about ticket availability can be obtained by calling 258-5600.

Westminster Conservatory Plans Children's Concert
Westminster Conservatory will present a program for children entitled "Sea Chanties and Fish Tales" Sunday at 4 in the Playhouse at Westminster Choir College. The concert will feature works with a water-related theme.
Performers will be Conservatory faculty members and students. Barbara Barstow will narrate, offering background information about each work performed. The Westminster Community Orchestra Wind Quintet will perform Three Sea Chanties by Malcolm Arnold. Tenor Gregory Lorenz will sing songs by Schubert, Purcell and Haydn. Violinists Barbara Shipley and Tobi Van Wormer will perform a series of hornpipes and jigs.
Also performing will be pianist Carol Gingerich, who will play Debussy's La cathedrale engloutie — The submerged cathedral. Pianists Marianne and Peter Lauffer will perform En Bateau — The Boat, a piano duet by Debussy. Piano students of Miriam Eley will perform What Do You Do With a Drunken Sailor arranged for one piano, eight hands. Allistar MacRae, a cello student of Elizabeth Thompson, will perform Saint-Saens The Swan.
The program will conclude with "Under the Sea" from the Walt Disney movie The Little Mermaid sung by tenor Gregory Lorenz accompanied by Peter Lauffer on piano and synthesizer.
Designed to introduce young people to music, each concert in the Westminster Children's Concert Series is one hour long. Admission, which will be charged at the door, is $5 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens.
Children under two are admitted at no charge. For more information call the Westminster concerts office, 921-2663.

Like the Times, the Music Too is Somber In Latest New Jersey Symphony Concert

Perhaps to coincide with these times of unrest and world trouble, the New Jersey Symphony displayed the darker side of its programming on Friday night at Richardson Auditorium as conductor Hugh Wolff led the ensemble in a performance of Dmitri Shostakovich's Symphony No. 14, Op. 135, preceded by one of Mozart's more introspective works: Serenade No. 12 in C Minor. Joining the orchestra as guest vocal soloists were soprano Elizabeth Knighton and bass John Cheek.

Mr. Wolff's introductory remarks to the Shostakovich work acknowledged that "this was not an evening of light entertainment." This work was first performed in the Soviet Union in 1969, and has been described as exemplifying Shostakovich's "political protest against the death of the human spirit under totalitarianism."

Drawing its texts from an anthology of death poems by Garcia Lorca, Apollinaire, Ruchelbecker, and Rilke, this work is a loosely-constructed symphonic song cycle which links the most somber of texts with orchestration and melodic texture ranging from stark and desolate to the hauntingly beautiful. In prefacing the orchestra's performance of this work, Mr. Wolff reiterated that the piece "probes into areas we don't want to look at — perhaps you will find them compelling to look at."

Symphony No. 14 begins with a stark solo violin sectional sound, later joined by the double basses — the top and bottom instruments in the string family. Mr. Cheek, who is renowned for his operatic and oratorio performance ranging from Mozart to Verdi, displayed a monumental command of the darker side of vocal color in his despairing Russian sound. Ms. Knighton joined the ensemble in the second movement, and immediately established audience rapport by directing her sung phrases around the house, seemingly at specific members of the audience. Given the black nature of the text, this style of performance compelled the audience to pay rapt attention. Ms. Knighton also displayed a wide proficiency in vocal technique by singing extended sections of her solos without vibrato — a perfectly straight tone further emphasized the bleak texture of this work.

Percussive Effects

Mr. Wolff expertly guided his orchestra through the changing styles of this piece. This included musically recreating the effect of "horses" in the orchestra, illustrating the "black horses and dark souls" which flitted in and out of the text of the second song. The ensemble's relentless playing was punctuated by unusual percussion orchestration, including woodblock, tom-toms, and xylophone. These percussive effects also helped to illustrate such images as soldiers marching to the trenches.

In the seventh song, which depicts a man's incarceration in prison, the strings were required to play col legno, using the wooden backs of the bows on the strings. This type of orchestration is deliberate, and must be performed with precision and accuracy, both qualities which the orchestra provided well.

By beginning the concert with a more somber work by a popular composer, Mr. Wolff gradually prepared his audience for the mystifying and oppressive nature of the Shostakovich. Mozart's Serenade in C Minor is scored for a very small ensemble: two oboes, two clarinets, two horns, and two bassoons. Although only eight players strong, this ensemble fully filled Richardson Auditorium with a crisp and delicate Classical sound. Mr. Wolff achieved good contrast in dynamics from the octet, and quickly showed why a conductor was needed for such a small group of chamber players in the fourth, unusually syncopated, Allegro movement which required accuracy in its treatment of silences and cadences. Exquisite solo work was provided by the first oboist throughout the Serenade, but especially in the first and third movements.

The programming of this concert was undoubtedly coincidental with the events taking place in the world today. Mr. Wolff's decision to verbally link Shostakovich's despairing symphonic depiction with the current unsettling nature of world crises surely added to the evening's atmosphere of poignancy, complemented by the superb playing of the instrumentalists.

Scott received an honorable mention at the Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions in Princeton. The husband and wife team will sing arias from several Italian operas, including Madama Butterfly, Aida and L'Elisir d'Amore.

Accompanying them at the piano will be Ms. Milstein-Pucciatti, co-founder of the Boheme Opera Company, who has appeared as a solo artist throughout the Eastern United States. She will also play selections from Cavalleria Rusticana and Don Pasquale. The Donizetti opera will be performed in its entirety by the Boheme Opera Company in April at Trenton Central High, and will star Metropolitan Opera baritone David Arnold.

The Boheme Opera Company, under the artistic direction of Joseph R. Pucciatti, has evolved into a professional opera production company which brings quality performances of grand opera to a growing audience.

Jazz Quintet in Concert At Taplin Auditorium

The Friends of Music at Princeton will present jazz pianist and composer Jeff Presslaff '78 and The Jeff Presslaff Quintet in a program of original jazz compositions on Saturday, February 9, at 8, at Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall on the Princeton University campus.

Mr. Presslaff is a composer in the progressive jazz idiom who has won several honors for composition. He has performed with noted jazz artists Benny Carter, Bill Barron, Edd Blackwell, and Roswell Rudd. He has written and recorded music for small and large jazz ensembles, electronic media, and theater. Mr. Presslaff has chaired the Music Department at Bard College, and has taught at Princeton University, Union College, and Simon's Rock.

Among the works to be heard are Monkey Bizness and More Monkey Bizness, Having Met Ms. Jones, Tierce, Blue Barron, and Collective Unconsciousness. The titles are either puns on — or tributes to — other jazz pieces or musicians.

Other members of the Quintet include trumpeter Pat Wristen '67, a trained architect, who works as a city planner when not performing. Cornelius Bumpus, saxophone,

Helistop

Ms. Zuckerman also plans to call Lewis Goodfriend, an acoustical engineer, and Norman Reiss, a meteorologist, as witnesses for the Township. The hearing is being conducted as if in a court of law, with cross examination of the witnesses and the occasional objection on the part of one or the other of the attorneys as to the way a question is phrased and the nature of the testimony elicited.

Just as in a court case, there will be summarizing arguments by both attorneys, J. Michael Nolan Jr. for Church & Dwight and Ms. Zuckerman for the Township. According to Ms. Zuckerman, the judge may agree to a Township request that he visit the proposed helistop site, and that he require a test flight that he will observe.

After the hearing is completed, Judge Masin has 45 days to make what is called an "initial" decision which is forwarded to the Commissioner of Transportation for a final decision. Judge Masin may reject or accept the helistop application, or find that it should be modified. The Commissioner may also reject or modify the judge's decision, but must do so on the basis of the record of the hearing.

Ms. Zuckerman says that townships have an uphill battle trying to get a transportation commissioner to deny a request for a helistop but that occasionally a township is successful. She cites one instance involving Rockaway Township and the Levelor company, which was represented by the same attorney representing Church & Dwight.

No Clear Standards

She says the Transportation Commissioner is required to consider local concerns about health, welfare and safety in granting permission for a helistop, but that there are no clear standards or a clear threshold beyond which a helistop is unacceptable. She attempted to show through testimony of Michael Giardino, developer of Governor's Lane townhouses where he is also a resident, that helicopters don't always stick to the permitted flight plan and that when they fly low over the townhouses the noise they make rattles the windows.

Church & Dwight's nearest nonresidential neighbor is the Center for Communications Research, an arm of the Institute for Defense Analyses, which conducts top secret government research and analysis. David Lieberman, who recently stepped down as head of this facility, testified for the Township that helicopter flights would be disturbing to those working in the building and could impact their research. However, on cross examination, Mr. Lieberman acknowledged he had been in the building during five test flights conducted at two different times in preparation for the hearings and had not been aware the flights were occurring.

Later, through an expert in sound engineering, Ms. Zuckerman sought to establish that vibrations from helicopters could damage CCR computers over time. She was hampered, however, because specifics on the CCR installation are not available and the expert's testimony was limited to the theoretical, a point Mr. Nolan made sure the judge recognized.

The hearing began with Mr. Nolan calling a series of witnesses on behalf of Church & Dwight. Dwight Minton, chief executive officer and chairman of the board, told of the company's use of helicopters at its previous headquarters in Piscataway. Since relocating to Princeton, Church & Dwight has used the Princeton Airport but has become increasingly concerned that Montgomery Township's new airport ordinance will mean the demise of the airport.

Airport Could Close

Richard Nierenberg, co-owner of the airport, testified that unless there is relief from the ordinance restrictions the airport would close within three to five years. William Davis, president of Heliport Systems of Morristown, the firm retained by Church & Dwight to determine the feasibility of a helistop, described the proposed facility from a technical point of view, maintaining that it has been designed to meet all safety and technical requirements.

Norman Dotti, an acoustics expert, described the Federal Aviation Administration formula for determining how many flights would be allowed per day. The formula incorporates factors such as wind patterns and existing noise levels. Mr. Dotti measured the existing ambient noise levels in Princeton for a week and also the sound generated by a helicopter.

By his calculations 25 flights a day would be allowed in the vicinity of the Governor's Lane townhouses and 10 flights a day at the noise-sensitive Center for Communications Research. According to Mr. Nolan, this is explained by the fact that the existing ambient noise — trucks and traffic — is already quite high in this area. During the next two days of testimony, Ms. Zuckerman will try to show that the federal guidelines will always result in helicopter flights being acceptable.

Both sides called in planning and zoning experts during the hearing. Harvey Moskowitz, testifying for Church & Dwight, called a helistop an accessory use, comparable to dish satellites and day care centers, in a suburban office park of the size of Princeton's office research zone. Richard Collier, planning consultant to the Township and Borough during the 1989 Master Plan revision, said a helistop was an inappropriate use in an area with three residential developments of fairly high density either existing or proposed.

Mr. Collier was sharply questioned under cross examination, however, and admitted he was not an expert in helistops. The Township Zoning Officer, Peter A. Kneski, testified that helistops are not permitted in the Township. He also testified on the distance between the proposed helistop and Princeton Airport.

The Township is hoping to convince Judge Masin that the helistop is unnecessary, given the closeness of the Church & Dwight headquarters to an existing airport, and the concern of the neighbors, both residential and non-residential.

Artists Alliance Group To Hold 'Voyages' Exhibit

Despite the fact that the Princeton area is rich in culture, the opportunity for local artists to display their work has been somewhat limited, according to Judy Masterson, coordinator of the Holman Hall Art Gallery at Trenton State College. For this reason, a group of area artists have formed The Princeton Artists Alliance, an organization designed to bring an audience to area talents.

The 25-member group plans to hold its "Voyages" exhibit in Trenton State College's Holman Hall Art Gallery beginning Wednesday, February 20. There will be an opening reception from 6 to 8 p.m., and the show will run through March 13.

The Alliance consists of painters, printmakers, sculptors, papermakers, fiber artists, and a photographer. According to Chuck McVicker, coordinator of the Alliance, the Voyage exhibit will display every aspect of art, from pure abstraction to representational realism.

The exhibition is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday noon to 3, Thursday 7 to 9, and Sunday 1 to 3. For more information call 771-2198.

Exhibits

The Nassau Club will feature the watercolor paintings of Betty Whelan Donovan during the month of February. On the Board of the Garden State Watercolor Society, she has exhibited in numerous juried and one-man shows throughout the State, and recently had her work displayed at the State House in Trenton.

Mrs. Donovan is an Honorary Member of Springdale Golf Club where she was champion for 15 years. She played in two National Amateur Championships and was coach of Princeton University Women's Golf Team from its inception for 11 years.

A past Chairman of the Volunteers of Princeton Medical Center, she was coordinator of the art shows at the Medical Center until 1985. Her paintings will be shown at the Nassau Club from February 3 through March 2.

"Into the Sunlit Splendor: The Aviation Art of William S. Phillips" will go on view February 15 at Princeton University, School of Engineering and Applied Science, Olden Street. It will feature 30 oil paintings, drawings and sketches by contemporary aviation artist William S. Phillips, and will continue through March 3. Exhibit hours will be posted in the main entry at the School.

"Into the Sunlit Splendor" was organized by the National

Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution. It travels under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, and will be a main feature for the 1991 National Engineers Week Celebration planned for February 15 to 24 at the School of Engineering.

Mr. Phillips' work portrays a variety of aircraft in flight, based on extensive study ranging from his flights with the United States and Royal Jordanian Air Forces to his flying experiences in Vietnam. While some of his scenes are carefully researched studies of historical aviation events, others are first-hand records of his own flight experiences.

Mr. Phillips' work recalls the genre of history paintings popular during the Renaissance. As source material, he uses contemporary photographs and films, and studies written documents. He emphasizes the reality of each airplane with precise detail and his paintings capture both the energy of the aircraft as well as some of the world's most spectacular scenery.

An exhibition of miniatures will line the halls of Princeton Day School through the first week of February.

Put together by antiques dealers and miniature enthusiasts Betty Hague of Pennington and Carolyn Hills of Lawrenceville, who sell from the Tomato Factory in Hopewell, the show includes new, old and antique items such as dollhouses, soda parlors, and tiny pieces of furniture. Most are from the 19th and early 20th centuries.

An international collection of artworks from the Print Club of Philadelphia are on display at the Conant Gallery of Educational Testing Service through January 31.

The Print Club, an organization dedicated to fostering an appreciation for prints and photography, recently celebrated its 75th anniversary. The show features numbered, limited edition prints on consignment from the club's gallery store. The 20 pieces in the show include etchings, monoprints, lithographs, intaglios, and woodcuts.

The Conant Gallery is located in Lounge B of Conant Hall at Educational Testing Service, Rosedale Road.

Paintings by Elizabeth Dauber Prestopino will be shown at The Mariboe Gallery at the Richard L. Swig Arts Center of The Peddie School, Hightstown, from February 8 through February 26. An opening reception will be held Friday, February 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The artist, the widow of American painter Gregorio Prestopino, has been living and working in the Roosevelt area for 40 years.

This is the second exhibition in the 1991 Roosevelt Artists Series at the school.

The Williams Collection Gallery will present an exhibit, "Alpha to Omega Tradition and Technology in Art," at its Loft Gallery at Food for Thought, Route 27, Kingston, through March 2.

The exhibit examines the relationships of classical artistic techniques and media, and leading-edge computer-generated and enhanced art.

The Williams Collection will also show another exhibit, "Imagine," composed of exclusive posters and photographs of John Lennon and Yoko Ono by Allan Tannenbaum, at Food for Thought's Atrium Gallery.

This exhibit will also be on display through March 2.

Tiger Five to Resume Ivy Action This Weekend

The Princeton basketball team will resume its quest for its third consecutive Ivy title this weekend against the current league leader and the current cellar dweller.

A 4-0 Harvard team, which already has three road wins to its credit, will play in Jadwin Saturday night at 7:30. Twenty-four hours earlier, Dartmouth, which hasn't won in four league outings, will be here.

Although it is off to a strong start in the Ivy race, the Crimson is to be respected, not feared. In nine games outside the conference, it managed just one victory, a 63-40 pounding of Brandeis. Along the way it fell to Lehigh, Fairfield, Vermont, Holy Cross, Colgate, Duke, USC and Long Beach State. At least five of those teams are small time when it comes to basketball. Its league victories have come against Dartmouth, twice, and Cornell and Columbia.

Still, with players like senior guard Ralph James (recovered from a shoulder injury), junior forward Ron Mitchell and sophomore guard Tarik Campbell, the Cantabs have the ability to pull off an upset. James and Mitchell are both averaging more than 16 points a game; Mitchell is leading the league in rebounding, and Campbell is the assist leader.

Harvard also plays the Tigers tougher in Jadwin than any other Ivy team. It has won four of the last seven meetings here, and was the last opponent to win a game in Jadwin, taking a 63-57 decision in February 1989. The Orange and Black has captured 21 consecutive home contests since that loss.

Dartmouth has performed better outside the league, winning five of 11 contests, but has had no success inside. The Big Green is getting good scoring from James Blackwell, 19.4 points per game, but he isn't getting much help. Dartmouth's most recent loss was to

Tigers Easy Winners over Elizabethtown

Pete Carril had expressed his disappointment that his players had not practiced more during exams, but if the long layoff hurt them, it wasn't apparent to most of their fans Monday night.

The Tigers had little trouble blowing out Division III foe Elizabethtown College, 82-45, before a Jadwin crowd of 1,845. Carril, of course, was more critical than the average fan.

"We're not where we were [before exams], but I don't know how we could be," he commented after the game. "You can't sit around for that long and be sharp."

It's also difficult to be sharp when you are virtually assured of the game's outcome from the opening tipoff. With Sean Jackson firing in three consecutive three-pointers, the Orange and Black soared to a 17-2 lead midway through the first half. It was 40-16 at halftime, and a steady stream of subs filed into the game early on. No one played more than 29 minutes.

Kit Mueller, hitting on seven of eight, did look sharp, and his 17 points moved him into fifth place on the Princeton all-time scoring list with 1,322, one ahead of Geoff Petrie. Jackson and Chris Mooney had 12 apiece, and Matt Eastwick, eight.

So the jury is still out on whether the layoff and lack of practice has hurt the Tigers. The decision will come this weekend against Dartmouth and Harvard.

Carril, however, already has his answer. "I can't believe that education, especially where it is as expensive as it is here, has to cause so much suffering."

Vermont a week ago Wednesday.

After the weekend action, Princeton will play its first road game Tuesday, February 5, against Penn in the Palestra. The Quakers are 1-1 in the league, having lost to Brown and beaten Yale. Overall, they have had a difficult time so far, winning only three of eight against non-Ivy foes. They currently are riding a three-game losing streak, beaten by Lehigh, St. Joseph's and Lafayette.

The Red and Blue really misses Hassan Duncombe who took this year off to concentrate on his studies. But there is hope for the future in the play of freshman guard Will McAlister, who has been named Ivy Rookie of the Week three times.

Future Pretty Well Set For Tiger Hockey Team

Eight regular-season games still remain on the schedule for the Princeton hockey team, and the chances seem pretty good the Tigers will finish in 10th place, right about where they are now.

At the moment that's a ninth place tie with Colgate, a winner of one of two last week. Both teams have 11 points. The Raiders, however, have six of their remaining eight games at home, and should be able to pull ahead of Princeton. And if both teams finish in a deadlock, the tiebreaker would favor Colgate which has a win and a tie against the Orange and Black.

This conclusion is based on the presumption that coach Jim Higgins' skaters will be doing well to capture three of these remaining eight games, and finish with about 17 points. At that rate it doesn't look like they'll be able to catch either Vermont or Brown, the two teams immediately ahead of them in the standings. Neither are they expected to somehow fall below the two weakest ECAC teams, Army and Dartmouth.

After its mid-winter exam break, Old Nassau will resume action this weekend in northern New England. Friday night it will be in Hanover to take on a Big Green sextet still looking for its first win. Princeton walloped Dartmouth, 12-0, here back in November.

Obviously, this contest is one of the three victories expected of the Tigers. One cautionary note is that Old Nassau may be a little rusty, not having played since January 15, while the Big Green played twice last weekend, losing to both Colgate and Cornell.

The following night in Cambridge, Princeton will meet a faltering Harvard team, that has dropped from first place into the middle of the ECAC pack with an 8-6 mark. Princeton scored a memorable win over the Crimson in Baker, but a triumph in the return meeting between the two should be viewed as a long shot.

Next Weekend at Home

The following weekend, February 8th and 9th, the Tigers will return home to face Vermont and RPI. Again, the feeling here is that the best they can do is a split with these two.

They lost to both on the road in early December, but might be able to beat one or the other at home. Thus, we'll guess that victory number two will come this weekend. If Princeton has any ideas about getting out of 10th place, it would need a sweep this weekend.

The next to last weekend will find the Orange and Black at Clarkson and St. Lawrence, facing the distinct possibility of losing twice to these two powerhouses. The memorable sweep in northern New York state last winter was something that will not happen again for a long time. Realistically, Princeton fans should expect the Orange and Black to return home without a win.

The final weekend of the season will find Yale and Brown in Baker Rink. These two Ivy rivals dealt defeats to Princeton in their rinks in January, and there is no guarantee the Tigers will be able to turn it around. A lot will depend on the standings at that point. If the Tigers can pass Brown with a victory, they will have much more incentive to win the game. However, the surging Bruins, after a slow start, are 5-0-1 in their last six ECAC contests, and could be out of Princeton's reach by the time they come here.

The 10th place finish if it does come about, will allow Princeton to sneak into the last playoff spot. That will give them a one-game playoff on the road, Tuesday, February 26 against the seventh place team. Given the way they have played so far, there is nothing to suggest the Tigers will be able to win more than three games, and have an opportunity to finish higher than 10th place. The return of defenseman Mike McKee gave Princeton a boost against Army, and he should be a positive force in the games to come. However, Joel Gaustad has been sidelined with a broken collarbone.

Hun Rallies to Top PHS; Glenn Gets His 1,000th

The Hun School basketball team suffered back-to-back losses for the first time this season last week but there was some good news, too, for the Raiders.

RaShawne Glenn, needing 12 points to reach the 1,000-point plateau, scored 22 in a 73-65 loss to Solebury Friday night and Hun fought off a spirited upset bid by Princeton High the following day to win for the 16th time in 21 starts.

The Raiders will take to the court three more times this week. They will entertain Steinert this Wednesday evening at 7 and then visit Pingry on Friday evening. The next night at 8 they will host St. Benedict's.

Perhaps still suffering from the loss to Solbury the night before and from an 85-68 loss to powerful Episcopal Academy earlier in the week, Hun came out flat against Princeton High on Saturday. Hun, said coach Kevin Long, played awful on defense in the first half and he wasn't too pleased with his team's efforts in the third period either, when the Little Tigers rolled to a 10-point lead. "We finally realized they had some capable scorers," said Long.

In the third and fourth periods, Hun began to sag on Bram Reynolds. "We wanted to make it awfully tough on him every time he got the ball," said Long. Still he had nothing but praise for the PHS freshman who tossed in a game-high 33 points.

Anytime he shot, the ball went in," said Long. "He's everything they say he is. For a 15-year-old freshman he showed me a lot."

Long could also extol his two guards, Glenn and Dion Hames, who alternated with scoring bursts. First Hames with his outside shooting — his back-to-back three pointers in the third period when PHS was up by ten, "broke our backs," said PHS coach Doug Snyder. From then, Snyder said the momentum started to swing Hun's way. Glenn accounted for almost all of Hun's scoring in the final period when the Raiders outshot PHS, 26-9, to grab victory away from Princeton's grasp.

Hames finished with 20 points, Glenn with 19. Mike Williams added 14 and steadily-improving sophomore Courtney Fitch tossed in 16 in Hun's balanced attack.

The loss to Solebury was not unexpected nor was the setback at the hands of Episcopal Academy. "They're a strong team," said Long of Episcopal, which outscored Hun in every period.

Glenn with 22 points and Hames and Fitch with 16 each were the big guns for Hun, but the Merion, Pa. team also had three in double figures, including 32 from Eric Moore. The win stopped a five-game win streak by Hun.

Penningroth Gleams In PHS Track Wins

Scoring 18 of her team's 42 points, Princeton High sophomore Ailey Penningroth won two races, placed second in the shot and made up four seconds in the anchor leg of the mile relay-to-power the Little Tigers past three other teams in an indoor track meet held last week at the Peddie School.

Opponents must shudder at the thought of what Penningroth will accomplish by the time she is a senior. Last week, the tall and powerful sophomore won the 50 hurdles in 8.0 flat to capture that event by .4 of a second, and ran the 440 in 1:05 to capture that event by almost two seconds. She tossed the shot put 34.5 to finish second in that event.

It was in the mile relay that Penningroth excelled. With two regulars suffering from the flu, first-year coach Hannah Herman was forced to substitute freshman Anika McLaren and sophomore Cara Boyles along with regular Myke Drayer.

Starting four seconds behind Notre Dame's anchor, Jen Middleton, Penningroth caught her Irish opponent on the final straightaway and out-leaned her at the wire. "That," commented Herman, "was pretty exciting."

As a result of Penningroth's heroics, PHS defeated the Irish, 42-34, West Windsor, 50-26, and Hamilton, 56-16. West Windsor and Notre Dame both routed Nottingham.

Boyles finished second to Middleton in the 880 and Princeton's Dana Litvack was second to Notre Dame's stand-out distance runner, Joyce Drake in the mile. Litvack was timed in 6:04.3, Drake in 5:48.8. Litvack came in third in the two-mile which was also won by Drake.

In the boys' competition at the same meet, Princeton High was defeated 66-11 by Notre Dame, which also crushed Ewing and Nottingham. The Little Tigers, however, edged West Windsor, 39-38, and defeated Hamilton, 50-24.

The closest PHS came to winning an event was a second place by Gregg Kessler in the 880. Kessler was timed in 2:08.5; the winner, Notre Dame's Jim Primavera, in 2:06.5. Andrew Callegari was a close third behind his teammate Kessler with a time of 2:08.9.

Princeton's Eugene Leung ran the 50 hurdles in 7.0 flat to tie Heath Reed of Notre Dame for second place and was fourth in the 50 yard dash.

PHS Wrestlers Split; Fail in Three Key Bouts

In splitting two matches last week, the Princeton High wrestling team is still on track for coach Matt Wilkinson's predictions on how the team will fare this season. But some nagging doubts refuse to go away.

Losing a key Valley Division match to Nottingham Saturday probably extinguished any flickering hopes the Little Tigers had of receiving a first-ever spot in the state sectional wrestling tournament in which teams, as in football, qualify on the basis of power points.

More disturbing to Wilkinson, however, was that the 32-22 loss to Nottingham "exposed some problems in our overall program. It hit home with some problems we have to face."

Progress over the last five years has been steady, said Wilkinson, but painfully slow. It has reached the point where the Little Tigers are able to defeat other good teams in their league — witness their second win ever over West Windsor earlier in the season. "But to beat West Windsor and then lose to Nottingham ... we're just not mature enough to stay consistent," continued Wilkinson. "I hate to think West Windsor is going to be the high point of our season."

The bottom line, says Wilkinson, is "those who have to get the big points for us just aren't doing it. That's what is killing us."

As an example, Wilkinson pointed out that PHS lost three bouts in the Nottingham match — in which it had an early lead — enough to swing the outcome in Princeton's favor had all three won.

Shawn Reddy had a 5-0 lead over the Northstars' Brian Hughes in their 125-pound match only to end up losing, 6-5. Alex Weinberg lost a 10-6 decision at 145 pounds and Matt Curran was a 9-4 victim at 171 after both led early on.

"That hurts," said Wilkinson. On the other hand, he was quick to point out, PHS received some solid performances. At 189 pounds, Garret Morris pinned his opponent in 2:48 to raise his record to 11-1. "He continued to look good," said Wilkinson.

Adam Basatemur, with a 7-2 decision over a very good Jeff Neely from Nottingham, improved his record to 10-2 in the 140-pound division. Ian Reddy, with a 19-3 technical fall over Rich Van Hart in the opening 103-pound match, is starting to look better, observed Wilkinson, and Vince Franze battled to a 4-4 draw against Mike Thames. Thames had beaten Franze, 9-6, the last time they met.

"Jason Kirby continues to pull them out," said Wilkinson of his senior 130-pounder. "He's not impressive in workouts but he's a match wrestler; he does it when he has to." Kirby defeated Kevin Greenberg, 9-2.

When Princeton's Jim Brophy worked over Phil Kempisty for a solid 7-2 win in their 160-pound match and Morris followed with his pin two bouts later, PHS trailed by only four points and still had a chance to pull out the match with a pin in the final heavyweight bout.

Nottingham gained its seventh win in 11 matches, however, when its Carl Kellgren pinned Princeton's first-year wrestler Felipe Dominquez in 1:31.

30-Point Lead

Earlier in the week, PHS rolled over Trenton High, 57-12, as the hapless Tornadoes forfeited five bouts to stake PHS to a 30-point lead.

Sean Reddy and Brophy both scored first-period pins, Curran pinned in 2:49 and Basatemur dominated Clint Rodriquez with an 18-1 technical fall at 4:00. The winless Tornadoes combined decisions at 135 pounds and heavyweight with a forfeit at 103 pounds for all of their points.

"I don't want to put any curse on the team but I don't think we will lose any more matches the rest of the season," predicted Wilkinson this week. If so, PHS, which will host Ewing this Wednesday at 6:30 and Steinert at 1 on Saturday, will end up 11-3.

Wilkinson also believes that Princeton will produce a couple of District champions this year — something the Little Tigers have not been able to accomplish in a number of years.

"Morris and Basatemur are right on target," said Wilkinson. "They're both headed in the right direction."

PHS Offers Excitement Despite Court Losses

Say this about the Princeton High basketball team: even when they lose the Little Tigers do it with flair.

There is no ho-hum aura about this year's team. The Little Tigers played three games last week and lost all three. In the process they were mathematically eliminated from the state tournament.

But what games they were. On Saturday, with freshman

High's overtime points, was injured on the winning tap-in by Ewing and missed the Hun game. Thus in the past two weeks — including a loss to Hightstown — PHS has been involved in three overtime games and lost them all. Had it won those three, its record would be 9-7 instead of 6-10 and it would own a berth in the state tournament.

Two days earlier, PHS was leading vaunted Trenton High after one period, 14-13, as Scott Simmons scored six of his ten points in the opening eight minutes. Trenton regrouped and proceeded to snuff Princeton's upset bid with its pressing defense to win for the 12th time in 13 starts, 75-51.

Just five regular season games remain for coach Doug Snyder's crew. The next two will be difficult. Friday night the Little Tigers will go up against unbeaten McCarristin for the second time on the Iron Mikes' home court. Less than 24 hours later they will host Burlington, a team they have had zero success against, in a 2:30 Saturday contest. Tuesday night the team will entertain Lawrence High.

Although reduced to the role of spoiler there is nothing downbeat about the team. After winning just five games the previous two years, PHS has seen the future and the future is them. Williams is the lone senior on the team.

"Things to Come"

"Things to come. Things to come," repeated Snyder, after Reynolds had exploded for his 33 points against Hun, hitting on 11 straight baskets at one point. The 6-3 freshman hit the boards, sank a variety of shots, passed off, and punctuated his performance at one point with a thunderous, reverse slam dunk. Reynolds definitely wanted the ball.

The last time a Little Tiger reached the 30s was two years ago when Tom Shockley scored 36 points in a 85-51 loss to Peddie. With Derry sidelined, however, Snyder observed: "We weren't getting any other guys to pick up the scoring. It's got to be more than a one-man team."

Late in the third period, after a Reynolds basket, PHS led the visiting Raiders, 53-43. Hun's Dion Hames quickly cut into the lead by swishing two of his four three-pointers in the game. The period ended with PIIS up by six, 55-49.

A three-point play by Hun's RaShawne Glenn, a basket by Matt Deering and another by Courtney Fitch brought Hun all even at 59 with 5:25 left to play.

Then with PHS using a box and one to contain Hames, Glenn, who had scored his 1,000th point the night before in a loss to Solebury, took over. Glenn scored all of Hun's next five points when Hun burst to a 67-62 lead and 12 of his team's next 13, including five from the ill line.

A loosey-goosey PHS, which had scored 23 points in the third period, suddenly seemed to become transfixed by the shooting and hall-hawking display put on by Glenn. Until a last second basket by Williams it was held to seven points by the Hun defense.

"Movement. Movement. Pass and go. We've got to get movement offensively, Princeton," shouted Snyder to his team but the only thing moving was Glenn.

Williams finished with 12 points for PIIS and Scott Simmons added nine.

Never a Game Like That

No, Snyder said, he had never before been involved in a game like the one with Ewing as a player, coach or fan. The reason it went so long, he added, is that nobody scored in the overtimes; each team held the ball for one shot.

After Williams' dramatic shot forced the overtime, the first two three-minute overtimes were scoreless. In the third, PIIS seemed to have it won when it went up by four points on a basket and two foul shots by Derry with 1:07 left to play. But baskets by Ewing's Ravi Norman and Kenya Hearn sent the game into a fourth OT.

In that one, Norman and Hearn again scored before the roaring approval of the home team. Ewing fans but Derry sank four foul shots to tie the score again at 48. The fifth OT was also scoreless when stall tactics by both teams failed to pay off. In the sixth, Derry and Ken McBride of Ewing exchanged foul shots.

In the seventh OT, both teams again played for a final shot. After Reynolds was called for a charge with 10 seconds left, Ewing's Mike Moses took the ball down the left lane and pulled up for a shot. The ball rolled off the rim but 6-2 junior forward Delmar Glanton tapped in the rebound to end the marathon. Derry, who sprained his knee at the end of the game, had half of Princeton's points with 26. Simmons contributed nine and Williams and Reynolds seven each to account for all the PIIS scoring.

The seven overtimes were a Mercer County and state record. The national record in boys' basketball for most overtimes is 13.

After leading visiting Trenton High for one period at the start of the week, the Little Tigers' upset bubble burst when the once-beaten Tornadoes turned up their touted, man-to-man pressing defense.

Trenton forced 26 turnovers and outscored PIIS 16-6 in the second period en route to its 12th win. PHS had three in double figures: Derry had 18, Williams 13 and Simmons 10. Reynolds and John Procaccini combined for ten more. Brian and Terrance Stokes paced Trenton with 21 points each.

PIIS Skaters Tie HV But Lose to Panthers

It was not an especially good week for the Princeton High ice hockey team. In two outings, the Blue and White lost and tied.

On Monday, the Little Tigers bowed to crosstown rival Princeton Day School, 6-2, as the Panthers outskated and outshot PIIS, jumping off to a 3-0 lead.

PHS sophomore Abel Kahn scored his fifth goal of the season with 18 seconds left in the first period and early in the second, Alex Klein scored from in close to make it 4-2, but that was as close as the Tigers got. Alex Guberman turned back 22 of PDS's shots while James Francomano had 16 saves for the Panthers. The loss left PIIS with a 6-3-1 record.

Earlier, PIIS let a game it appeared to have won slip away in the final seconds. Leading 2-1 against Hopewell Valley, the Little Tigers had to settle for a 2-2 tie when, with 29 seconds left, Bulldog forward Colin Mohr scored. Mohr, posted in front of the goal, and Princeton High's Jared Bilanin had both slashed at the puck. When their sticks came together, the puck caromed off into the air and sailed over the head of the charging Guberman into the net. "I had no idea where the puck was," said Guberman, who didn't realize the Bulldogs had scored until he saw their sticks raised in the air.

After a scoreless first period in which neither team threatened, Karsten Hilpert scored five minutes into the second when he skated through the HV defense and beat goalie Sam Bayard with a backhand for a shorthanded goal. Hopewell's Ron Taylor tied it four minutes later.

Midway in the third period Hilpert scored his second goal and fifth in two games to put PHS up by a goal. Hilpert leads the team in scoring with seven.

Both goalies were tough in front of the net. Twice Guberman stopped HV standout Trevor Marcante on breakaways and Taylor frustrated Bilanin and Chris Healey with glove saves during power plays. Bayard ended with 25 saves, Guberman 19.

With nine penalties charged against it, PHS played a good portion of the game team short-handed. "The penalties killed us," commented PHS coach John Hutter.

In games this week, PHS will play McCorristin on Thursday at 3:15 and Lawrence on Monday at 4:20, both at Mercer County Rink.

Lady Tigers No Match For WW in Basketball

Failing to reach double figures in any period, the Princeton High girls' basketball team was routed, 70-25, Monday by West Windsor in a makeup of a snowed-out game.

The Pirates put the game away when it outscored visiting PHS, 21-4, in the second period, as 11 WW players scored. Four scored for PHS, led by Joan Sullivan's 12. Christel Wiener added six, Cathy Neuger five and Lisa Winterbottom, two. The loss was number nine for PIIS which has won twice.

Trenton Is Overwhelmed By PIIS Boy Swimmers

The Princeton High boys' swim team upped its record to 6-1 last week with an easy 66-29 victory over Trenton High. PHS captured every event.

Double winners for PHS were David Schivell in the 100 and 200 freestyle and Marshall Preston in the 200 IM and 100 back. Other winners for PHS were Brian Hsiang, Scott Petrone, Ben Giradet and Aaron Livingston.

Mark Overstreet, Giradet, Petrone and Schivell combined to win the 200 medley relay and Livingston, Giradet, David Beschel and Schivell took the 400 free relay.

Hun Quintet Rebounds With Two Court Wins

Shaking off two losses the week before, the Hun girls' basketball team rebounded last week with a pair of wins to increase its record to 8-3.

Hun easily handled area rival Pennington School, 53-27, on Thursday and earlier knocked off Montclair-Kimberly, 59-29.

The Raiders will be busy in the upcoming week, meeting Steinert this Wednesday and hosting Newark Academy on Friday at 4. On Monday, Hun will clash with Princeton Day School in a 5:30 game at the Panthers' gym.

Attacking what Hun coach Dennis Lepold perceived was Pennington's weakness at the guard positions, Hun built up a 31-11 halftime lead. In the second period, junior Becky Jensen scored nine of her game-high 28 points when Hun outscored Pennington, 13-4.

While the Hun defense was successful in shutting down Pennington (Karen O'Donnell had three steals and five rebounds) Lepold was not happy with his team's erratic play on offense. "We made a lot of dumb plays; we're not playing smart," commented Lepold. Allison Williams backed up teammate Jensen with 13 points and Jen Pontani added six. Pennington center Brigid Kilfoyle scored 20 of her team's 27 points and now needs only eight more to become the first Pennington female player to reach 1,000 career points.

Montclair visited the Hun gym with a .500 record. It went home with a losing one when Jensen and Williams combined for 41 points and the Hun defense limited the losers to six points in the first half.

Pontani had another steady game for the victors at point guard and contributed six points. O'Donnell and Lauren McQuade each hit for four points for Hun.

PHS Girls Bow Twice To Ewing and Trenton

Playing two teams that boasted a combined record of 20-6, the Princeton High girls' basketball team, playing for the first time in four years, figured it would be a tough week. It was.

The Little Tigers lost 67-37 to Ewing on Thursday and 69-21 to Trenton two days earlier. With the twin setbacks, the Little Tigers fell to 2-8 on the season.

Against Ewing, PHS had two in double figures, but the 11-3

Blue Devils had three and outscored the Little Tigers 42-12, in the middle two periods.

Marci Procaccini paced PHS with a dozen points while Cathy Neuger had 10. Joan Sullivan and Christel Wiener combined for 11 more.

Led by Tamika Covington and Adriane Grant, who combined for 47 points, Trenton High blitzed visiting PHS 24-6 in the first period and widened its lead to 39-8 at halftime.

Sullivan, with 13 points, was the only Little Tiger to score more than four, as Trenton coasted to its ninth win in 12 starts.

Next up for PHS are games against McCorristin at home on Friday (3:45) and at Lawrence High Tuesday evening.

Hun Has Two Champions In Its Own Mat Event

One of the goals of Hun wrestling coach Jim Nehlig this year is to have his wrestlers perform well on an individual level in tournaments.

In its own annual Hun Invitational Tournament held Saturday, Hun finished fifth in the standings among the eight competing schools, but it produced two individual champions.

Andy Nelson won the 145-pound title with a 12-9 decision over Rick Piechota of George School, and Brian Benfield, the team's most successful wrestler, claimed the 171-pound title with an impressive first-period pin over Frank McCall of Jamesburg. Hun sophomore Tucker Bodine was pinned in 3:57 in the final round of the 119-pound division.

Rutgers Prep won the team title with 179 points to edge Jamesburg, which compiled 176.5. Pingry (139.5) was third and George School (118) was fourth. Hun finished with 74.5 to best Newark Academy, Wardlaw-Hartridge and Pennington School.

Rutgers Prep claimed five individual champions, including the tourney's Outstanding Wrestler, Scott Goldberg. Goldberg pinned Matt Harjas of Pingry in 1:05 to win the 130-pound title.

Earlier in the week, Hun won its third dual meet this season when it still had enough to defeat Pennington, 42-29, after first forfeiting four bouts. Hun won two by forfeit and one by disqualification.

The quickest bout by far of this fast-moving match was Benfield's 27-second fall in his 171-pound match. Hun also got falls from Nelson in 3:34 and from Stewart Green in 3:10 at 152 and 140 pounds.

Bodine decisioned Penning-ton's Jason Orlando, 3-1, at 119 pounds and Fernando Tomas outlasted Carlos Wyre, 10-8, in their 135-pound match. Winless Pennington (0-6-1) scored its only pin at 160 when Derek Landry flattened Hun's Alex Fredricks in 1:08.

Ahead for Hun are two traditional prep school opponents. The Raiders will be at Peddie this Wednesday afternoon and visit Lawrenceville on Saturday for a match starting at 2.

PDS Boys' Hockey Team Big Winner, Big Loser

In the space of just 48 hours last week, the Princeton Day hockey team discovered what it felt like to be on both ends of a one-sided game.

Last Wednesday, the Panthers coasted through three periods against a weak Academy of New Church team, and wound up an 11-3 victor. On Friday, the opponent was a solid Peddie sextet, and the score was almost reversed, PDS losing 11-1 in Hightstown. Coach Bill Minter's team is now 6-3.

This week Princeton Day has a pair of home contests against Hopewell Valley on Thursday, and a return engagement with Upland on Saturday.

The Peddie game was close through the first period. The Falcons went up 2-0 in the first five minutes, but Mark Trowbridge got PDS on the scoreboard at 6:58 to make it 2-1, and it stayed that way the rest of the period.

The final two stanzas were all Peddie, as it scored five goals in the second and four more in the third, many on power play opportunities. PDS was outshot 38-18.

PDS played its first game against Academy of New Church, and ended up wishing the first one back in December had not been cancelled. It was an 11-3 laughter that fattened the point totals of several PDS players.

Baker and Levy benefitted the most, the former scoring four goals and adding an assist, the latter tallying twice and gaining credit for three assists. Trowbridge fired in a pair, and Hobey Hare and Chandra Bhatnager scored one apiece.

PDS led 6-2 at the end of the first period, and added four more in the second. Each team scored once in the third. The Panthers outshot the visitors 27-15, with goalie Jamie Francomano making 12 saves.

Princeton Day Beats PHS in Hockey, 6-2

After a pair of lop-sided games last week, the Princeton Day hockey team played a more routine contest Monday, defeating Princeton High, 6-2.

The Panthers made good use of their speed to take a 4-1 lead in the opening period. Barely two minutes had elapsed before Steve Eaton blasted a low shot from the point past the PHS goalie. Charlie Baker and Hobey Hare picked up assists on the play.

Two minutes later Mark Trowbridge made it 2-0, assisted by Dave Levine, when his slapshot hit home. Neither side scored for the next nine minutes, but the period came to an end with a flurry of three goals. Eaton got his second, an unassisted effort with just over a minute remaining.

With 42 seconds left Ahel Kahn got PHS on the scoreboard, beating PDS goalie Jamie Francomano. However, the Little Tigers were caught napping just 12 seconds later, allowing Baker to skate in alone on goalie Angus Guberman. That pretty much ended the Little Tigers' chances of a comeback.

Alex Klein made it 4-2 early in the second, but PDS's Campbell Levy answered right back a minute later to make it 5-2. The Panthers added a sixth goal in the third period. PDS outshot its crosstown rival, 28-18.

PDS Basketball Wins 3; Pennington Prep Is Next

The Princeton Day basketball team fattened its record to 12-5 last week, beating three opponents handily, but the real test will come this Wednesday.

The Panthers will meet perennial power Pennington (13-3 through last Saturday) away, and will find out how they stack up against the best in Prep B. This game will probably determine the number one seed for the post-season.

tournament. PDS is undefeated in four Prep B contests to date.

Following that contest, the Panthers will meet another Prep B foe, Newark Academy away on Friday. After that they will have only four regular season games left before play begins in the Mercer County and Prep tournaments.

The first of the three victories for coach Maura Kelly's team came last Wednesday against Skillman. Scoring 29 points in the first quarter to only seven for the visitors, PDS sailed away to an 84-60 triumph. James Reed led the way with 25 points, and Chris Jones had 20.

On Friday, the Panthers played their best game of the three, particularly on defense, beating Morristown-Beard, 63-32. The visitors were held to four points in the first period, three in the third and six in the fourth by a pressing Panther defense. Only in the second did MB managed to break out, scoring 19.

Meanwhile PDS got off to a good start in the first period, leading 17-4, before allowing Mo-Beard to close the gap to 28-23 by halftime. However, the second half was all PDS; it won going away, outscoring the Crimson 35-9. Jones had a big game, pumping in 22, Reed followed with 15 and David Wise added nine.

On Saturday, Princeton Day completed the sweep, albeit in somewhat sloppy fashion, beating Peddie, 53-41. PDS took a slim, 11-8, lead in the first, increased it to 26-19 at the end of the second, and had a 10-point cushion, 39-29, starting the fourth.

However, the Falcons scored 11 of the first 13 points to start the period, and trailed by just a single point, 41-40, with five minutes left. PDS found itself, and ran off 12 of the game's final 13 points for a 53-41 victory.

Kelly cited Wise for playing his best game of the year. The junior forward had 15 points, including two three-point baskets. Reed was high scorer with 18.

PDS Girls' Basketball Loses Three Contests

It was a tough week for the Princeton Day girls' basketball team. A loser to Lawrenceville, Oak Knoll and George in three one-sided games, the Panthers saw their record drop to 4-7.

This week finds the Blue and White facing three more prep foes. After a contest scheduled to be played against Newark Academy on Tuesday, PDS will play Kent Place away on Wednesday and Montclair-Kimberly on Friday.

Last Wednesday, pretty much as expected, a strong (12-4) Lawrenceville quintet buried PDS, 47-10. The first period told the whole story with the Red & Black scoring 14 points while shutting out PDS at the other end of the court. At halftime, the advantage was 24-2 — time to put the lights out and go home.

It was the first meeting between the two teams since the Panthers' 26-24 upset of the Larries last February in the finals of the Prep A championships. And it appeared the memory of that loss was still fresh in the minds of the Lawrenceville girls.

Two days later, PDS met the other powerhouse in Prep A, Oak Knoll in Summit. The Blue Bombers lived up to their nickname, dropping one after another through the hoop, and crushing the Blue and White, 62-15. PDS coach Jill Thomas feels Oak Knoll has the inside track to the "A" title this winter.

On Saturday, a trip to Newtown to play George resulted in a 36-21 loss. PDS was behind by just two, 6-4, in the first period, but the home team pulled away in the next two, outscoring the Panthers, 23-9. Sarah Berkman led PDS with seven points; Anne Marie Bernhard tallied six.

"This is what you have to expect in a rebuilding year," Thomas commented. "We need to develop an offense. We are going to get better, and the more games we play the more it will help us."

Battle of Princeton Won By CJ Hockey Club, 8-4

For the fifth straight year, the Battle of Princeton — or Princeton Bowl — between the Princeton Hockey Club and the Princeton-based Central Jersey Club was won by the Central Jersey Skaters.

At Baker Rink Monday night, the CJ team jumped out to leads of 2-0 and 3-1, leading 4-2 at the end of the first period and 7-3 after two. "It was a nice effort on our part," commented CJ's Bob Smyth. "We really elevated our level of play." In an earlier meeting this year, the two teams had battled to a 5-5 tie when CJ scored in the closing minute.

Central Jersey's front line accounted for seven of the eight goals. Steve Cook had three goals, brother John Cook and Dave Ellison both had two. Steve Gill scored one from his defensive position.

A CJ defense that broke up a lot of PHC plays was comprised of Chris Fischer, Arch Reid, Gib Johnson, Allen Fitzpatrick and Gill. Eric Monberg had 29 saves in goal.

With the win CJ raised its overall record to 5-4-2 but is only 2-3-2 in the Southern Division of the Commuters League. Its next outing will be against the Valley Forge Colonials on Friday night at 9:15 at Baker Rink.

In a league game last week against Wissahickon Skating Club, CJ suffered a 12-7 loss when Wissahickon scored six unanswered goals after leading 6-5 midway in the second period. Ellison and Reid each scored two goals for CJ while the Cook brothers and Fitzpatrick added single goals. Monberg had 28 saves.

Still earlier in a non-league contest, Central Jersey defeated the Wharton School of Philadelphia, 7-4. John Cook had a trick, Steve Cook scored twice and Gill and Reid added single goals.

Wildcats Now Are 2-0-2 In County Soccer Play

The Princeton Wildcats, who compete in the 1980 boys' division of the Mercer County College Indoor Soccer League, are 2-0-2 after their first two weeks of play.

Last week, the Wildcats defeated the Westend Strikers, 5-2, and tied the West Windsor Buccaneers, 1-1. Noah Stout scored three goals against the Strikers and Rip Rice and John Walsh each added a goal and an assist. Walsh scored the only goal against West Windsor on a power play with a man down. Alex Mathews assisted on the score.

Earlier, Jeff Mapps scored twice on assists by Stout and Kurt Soderberg to pace the Wildcats to a 2-0 victory over the Lawrence Raiders. Matt Trowbridge and Larry Miller combined in goal for the shutout and received a lot of defensive support from Adam Staats and Daniel Bowman.

In the league's opener, Stout erupted for a pair of goals to earn the Wildcats a 2-2 tie with the North Hampton Raiders.

In its next two contests on Sunday, the Wildcats will oppose the Princeton Battle and the Monroe Blackhawks. The season runs through March 10.

BUSINESS

Internat'l Business Day Sponsored by Chamber

On Thursday, March 14, the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce's International Business Development Council will sponsor International Business Day at the David Sarnoff Research Center.

The objective is to create international business activity with a two-way flow in and out of New Jersey. The meeting will focus on telecommunications, medical, and environmental technologies; and will create a forum for exchange of information and ideas among representatives from 11 countries and New Jersey business leaders. One-on-one meetings between business leaders in New Jersey and trade representatives of the countries in which they are seeking business opportunities will be set up.

The day will open at 8:30 a.m. with registration. Following opening remarks, diplomatic and/or trade representatives will make presentations on trade opportunities. During the second session, New Jersey companies will describe successful business ventures with firms in other countries and will present an overview of global trade links. The day will close with a reception featuring delicacies from the different countries.

PRIZE WINNER: Polly DiGiovacchino, left, vice president, Chemical Bank New Jersey, presents a prize certificate for a weekend at the Humphrey Hughes House in Cape May and dinner for two at the Washington Inn to Carol Stewart, sales representative of Peyton Associates Realtors, Pennington. Tod Peyton, owner of Peyton Associates, looks on.

The 11 participating countries are Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Israel, Malaysia, Mexico, Norway, Singapore, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

Held under the auspices of the Princeton Area Chamber, this first International Business Day is being supported by American Electronics Association, Association of Biotechnology Companies, Morris County Chamber of Commerce, New Jersey Business and Industry Association, New Jersey

Department of Commerce and Economic Development Division of International Trade, Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, South Jersey Exporters Association, and the United States Department of Commerce.

Reservations, at $75 per participant, can be made through the Chamber, P.O. Box 431, Princeton 08542. Deadline for registration is March 1. For a registration form or further information, call 520-1776.

Zoning

Pennsylvania and is planning a career in museum administration.

Her application was first heard by the Zoning Board in October, when Board Chairman John McGoldrick asked Ms. Everett, her architect, and the neighbors to get together and try to resolve their differences.

The revised plan presented Thursday night differed in several ways from the earlier one, but it still did not satisfy neighbors' concerns. The plan was altered to reduce the east wall — called "the Berlin Wall" by neighbors — from 73 to 36 feet. The front-yard wheelchair ramp was pulled back, creating a front yard setback of 19.3 feet instead of the earlier 7.8 feet. The rear-yard encroachment was also eliminated.

Excluding ramps and deck, the building's coverage would be 27.2 percent. Since the allowable figure is 25 percent, a variance was required. Because Ms. Everett stores her wheelchairs in the garage, a front yard parking variance was also requested.

The shape of the house was squared to eliminate the long wall. This led to a reduction in the size of the deck, the loss of windows in the kitchen, and the need to cut down a big tree in the back yard.

Evergreen Buffer

Ms. Everett also agreed to plant an evergreen buffer along the rear of the property line and have the water coming from the roof captured so most of the runoff would go into an existing pipe. These are efforts to address neighbors' concerns that the new addition would exacerbate the area's already serious drainage problems.

Robert Keith, 202 Prospect Avenue, came forward to say he would try to make sense of what most of the neighbors interested in the application have said.

He pointed to the size of the proposed building and the request to eliminate the off-street parking space. "I am disappointed to learn there was no decrease in size and that they are unwilling to eliminate any of the features or reduce any of the sizes."

"This is what the whole issue is about, as far as we're concerned," said Mr. Keith. "It's harder to sell property with this sort of thing next to us. We believe excessive goals and desires are responsible for this excess."

Harrison Street resident Larry Dupraz said the back line of his property is 75 feet from the applicant's. Stating that he hated to see the view from his terrace obstructed by the planned construction, he also noted there was always water present because most of the ground is composed of clay and shale rock.

"The Everett group made an effort cosmetically of eliminating the appearance of the Berlin Wall, yet they retain all the feeling of the Berlin Wall," said John Miller, Ms. Everett's next-door neighbor, whose property is on the side of the wall.

Increases Property Values

Heidi Shegoski, attorney for Ms. Everett, countered by stating the bulk of the new building would not cause a view problem and that the appraiser for the estate of Ms. Everett's mother had said that the upgrade of the house would increase the value of property and have nothing but a positive impact on the neighborhood.

"I have four principal concerns," said Zoning Board Member Orren Jack Turner. "The design of the building, which is still the biggest on the street; the water problem; the parking problem; and the seven sets of neighbors who expressed feeling troubled.

"I can't remember when we've ever had a case where every neighbor in speaking distance said, don't do this — and we did it."

Board Member Hank Abernathy said the plans were a considerable improvement over the earlier ones, and Board Member Harry Clark pointed out that drainage is not an issue that can be solved by an individual family, but has to be done in concert.

Expressing his empathy both with Ms. Everett's needs and the concerns of the neighbors, Mr. Clark added, "I wish the discussion had led to a sense of the neighbors working together instead of the tension still in the room."

"The concern of the neighbors is easy to understand, human and reasonable, but to some degree misdirected at this application," said Mr. McGoldrick. He added he could see the concern about changing the house from 16 to 27.2 percent coverage, but that 25 percent was permitted by ordinance. "If this is too much, you should get Borough Council to change the ordinance."

Conditions on Application

Several conditions were placed on the application before it was approved 6-1 by the Zoning Board. These included a ban on overhead structures being placed on the deck or ramps; removal of the ramps if the house were sold to a person who did not need them; termination of the front yard parking variance if a nonhandicapped person were in residence; a ban on the addition of a second story unless the applicant applies for relief; and the continuation of an existing fence between the Everett property, at 115 Patton, and the property next door owned by Lydia and Walter Frank.

Mr. Turner cast the lone vote against granting the variances. "I always regarded our job as protecting neighborhoods," he said.

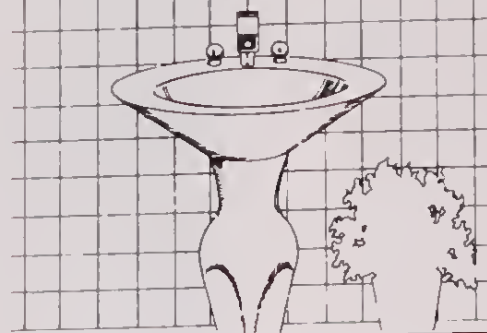

Surrounded by resistance to her plans, Ms. Everett said she feels that, over time, the neighbors' anger will soften.

"I'm willing to be a good neighbor," she said. "My home will be a welcoming one."

OBITUARIES

Thomas J. Cox, 83, died January 26 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Cox lived in the Princeton area for most of his life. He was a retired electrician and an Army Air Corps veteran of World War II.

Husband of the late Theresa M. Cox, he is survived by a daughter, Betty Cooper of Princeton; a niece and two nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Tuesday at 9:30 at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, with entombment in St. Mary's Mausoleum, Hamilton. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, PO Box 529, Princeton 08542.

Rose H. Kane, 94, died January 25 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Russia, and formerly of New York City, Mrs. Kane had lived in Princeton Township for the past five years.

Wife of the late Joseph Kane, she is survived by a son, Herbert R. Kane of Princeton; and four grandchildren, Jed Dunsker of Birmingham, Ala., Donald Dunsker of Naperville, Ill., Alan Kane of Boca Raton, Fla., and Julie Kane of Larchmont, N.Y.

The service was held Sunday at the Kimble Funeral Home, with burial in Westchester Hills Cemetery, Hastings-on-the Hudson, N.Y.

Denise M. Lugar, 18, of Hopewell, died January 21 of injuries sustained when she was struck by a car while crossing Route 206 in front of Rider College.

Born in Freehold, Miss Lugar had lived in Hopewell for 16 years. She was a 1990 graduate of Hopewell Valley Central High School and a freshman at the University of Delaware. She was a New Jersey Distinguished Scholar, a member of the National Honor Society, and had made dean's list at the University of Delaware for the past semester. She was also an avid gymnast, a member of the Hopewell Valley Central High School gymnastic team for four years and a national qualifier of gymnasts while in high school.

Surviving are her parents, Kirk and Patricia Blair Lugar of Hopewell; a brother, Matthew Lugar at home; her maternal grandparents, Harry and Rose Blair of Lambertville; her maternal great-grandparents, Robert and Rose Barnhart of Titusville; her maternal great-grandmother, Mary Blair of New Hope; and her paternal grandparents, Dr. John T. and Anne Lugar of Tenen Harbor, Maine.

The funeral service was private. A memorial service was held Sunday in the Hopewell Valley Central High School auditorium. In lieu of flowers, Memorial contributions may be made to the Denise Lugar Scholarship Trust Fund, PO Box, Lambertville 08530.

The Rev. Clifford T. Crawford, 91, of Princeton Junction, died January 26 at the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Born in McKeesport, Pa., Rev. Crawford lived in Colorado and Washington, D.C. before moving to Princeton Junction 18 years ago. In 1925 he and his wife joined the Pillar of Fire Church international headquarters in Zarahpath, N.J. They were directors of the Pillar of Fire Christian Day School in Washington from 1942 to 1968.

An Army veteran of World War II, he attended the University of Pittsburgh and was a graduate of Zarahpath Bible Seminary. He became an ordained minister in 1929. He was a pioneer in religious broadcasting when the first Pillar of Fire radio station, KPOF of Denver, Colo., went on the air in 1929.

An avid musician, he played many instruments including the coronet, French horn, guitar and violin. He was a member of the Ancient Musical Historical Society of Washington, D.C. and played in several bands and orchestras in Colorado, Washington and New Jersey, including the Blawenburg Community Band. He was a member of the Gummer F&AM Lodge No. 252 of Fayette City, Pa., and the West Windsor Senior Citizens.

Husband of the late Sarah Ann Ferguson Crawford, he is survived by a daughter, Joan Murray of Camp Hill, Pa.; three sons, Clifford T. Crawford of Cranbury, S. Rea Crawford of Zarahpath, and Franklin D. Crawford of Princeton; a sister, Edith N. Smith of Erie, Pa.; a brother, Lawrence M. Crawford of Merced, Calif.; seven grandchildren; three great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The service will be held this Wednesday, January 30, at Zarahpath community Chapel, Weston Canal Road, Zarahpath, Bishop Robert B. Dalenbach officiating. Burial will follow in the Pillar of Fire Church Cemetery, Zarahpath. Friends may call Wednesday from 12:30 until time of service.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the radio station WAWZ Zarahpath 08890.

E. Fox Hubbard died January 18 at his home in California. He was a longtime resident of Beverly Hills and Carlsbad, Calif., who spent months at a time visiting his daughter in Princeton.

Mr. Hubbard was born in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., in 1916, raised in New York City and educated at Riverdale Country Day School, The Lawrenceville School and Princeton University Class of 1939.

As a pilot in the Army Air Force, he flew bombers in the Pacific during World War II and served as director of flying at the West Coast Training Centre. He also served in the USAF Reserve and was commander of his unit in Los Angeles. He continued his involvement with aviation, flying aircraft and helicopters until very recently.

After the war he studied art and pursued his interest in painting throughout his life. He was also a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Husband of the late Jane Degnon Hubbard, he is survived by two sons, Steven D. of New York and Dr. Michael Peter of Aspen, Col.; a daughter, Sidney Anderson of Princeton and Sydney Australia; five grandchildren; and his sister, Virginia H. Owen of California. A memorial service will be announced.

RELIGION

The Rev. Robert R. Cushman, senior pastor of Princeton Alliance Church has announced that Dr. Alan B. Hickock will provide a counseling service under the auspices of the church.

Dr. Hickock holds a doctorate in pastoral counseling and a master's degree from Westminster Seminary, Philadelphia. He has served as director of church relations for the Christian Counseling and Educational Foundation of Laverock, Pa., and as senior pastor of Evangelical Free Church, Kearny. He is currently interim pastor at Oakwood Baptist Church, Kearny.

His counseling services will be available for people of all ages and will cover such issues as depression, grief, anxiety, eating disorders, physical or sexual abuse and self esteem. Typical sessions may involve pre-marital counseling, marital strife, divorce, concerns of singles, family conflict and child rebellion.

For information on registration, scheduling and fees, call 520-1094. Princeton Alliance Church is located at 4325 Route 1, Monmouth Junction.

The Rev. Joan Kahn-Schneider, minister of the First Unitarian Society of Albany, N.Y., will be the guest speaker Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at the Unitarian Church of Princeton. Her sermon topic will be "Toward an Encounter with the Holy." Music will be provided by the children's and adult choirs. Children join their parents for the first part of the service to hear a story and then pro-

Farewell to McFarlane

Members of the Wither- spoon Street Presbyterian Church are preparing to say their final good-byes to their pastor of nearly six years. On February 11, the Rev. Dr. Adrian A. McFarlane will assume the role of associate professor of philosophy at Hartwick College in Oneonta, N.Y.

Dr. McFarlane will preach his final sermon as Wither- spoon Church pastor this Sunday at 11.

The congregation will hold a farewell gathering on Friday at the church. On Saturday evening, community members and associates of Dr. McFarlane will join the congregation for a reception and banquet at the Princeton Hyatt Regency commemorating "Adrian McFarlane's Princeton Years."

For information call the church at 924-1666.

ceed to their church school classrooms. A coffee hour follows the service and brunch is served in the founders' room.

Michael J. Sheiring, executive director of the Governor's Management Review Commission, will be the speaker at the Hopewell Men's Club breakfast meeting Wednesday, February 6. The Rev. Douglas J. Brouwer of Hopewell Presbyterian Church, who is club president this year, will offer the devotions.

Mr. Sheiring, a graduate of Kent State University, is also chief financial and administrative officer of Thomas Edison State College.

The club meets the first Wednesday of every month from 7 to 8 a.m. at the Stage Depot restaurant in Pennytown, Route 31. The cost is $4. The meetings are open to all men in the Hopewell area.

Princeton Small Animal Rescue League

SAVE

The Princeton Small Animal Rescue League SAVE is a private, non-profit, animal shelter that cares for lost or abandoned cats and dogs in the Princeton area. It is supported almost entirely by contributions and is the only service of its kind in Princeton.

If you lose a pet or find a stray contact our executive director, Mrs. Graves or call small animal control officer, Mr. Heavener, at 924-2728 and leave a message. Also call the WHWH Pet Patrol, 924-3600. If you're interested in adopting a pet call Mrs. Graves.

* Be sure your dog or cat is inoculated against rabies. Remember to have your pet spayed or neutered.

DISCOVER THIS BEAUTY Hopewell Township

A wonderful new listing in Elm Ridge Park awaits the family demanding elegance and perfection! This two-story brick colonial built five years ago was completely and impeccably redecorated in 1988. Built with enormous attention devoted to quality and materials, nothing has been overlooked. The formal living room with fireplace and lovely moldings, opens to the arched blue stone patio spanning the rear of the house; the dining room is large enough for banquets, the family room with its cathedral ceiling and brick walled fireplace is stunning. Upstairs, the master bedroom suite consists of a bedroom, sitting room and glorious bath with shower and jacuzzi! The family bedrooms and bath are bright and well done. Add to this over an acre of magnificently landscaped gardens and you have a MUST SEE QUICKLY property. Please call Peggy Hughes for details and appointments - 609-921-9300. $455,000

NEW LISTING

Princeton

Charming — by definition — captivating, alluring, enchanting, as is this delightful English cottage in the western Township. A wooded drive leads to a white picket fence guarding a rose garden and a brick walk leading to a welcoming front door. It opens to a living room with a soaring vaulted ceiling, a towering clerestory window, 2 bay windows with window seats and a fireplace. The large country kitchen is inviting with a wood-burning stove and double French doors to a brick terrace. A second stairway leads to a loft, a luxurious master bedroom with fireplace, beamed vaulted ceiling with skylights, French doors to a balcony and a glamorous bath. All on almost 2 acres sloping to a rippling brook with a picturesque foot bridge. Truly a "personality" house. $299,000

A vestibule and wide entry hall lead to a large living room with fireplace and south facing bay window, separate formal dining room, cozy paneled study with lots of bookshelves, powder room, efficient kitchen and large store room for expansion. Upstairs a master bedroom with its own large tile bath, two other bedrooms and tile bath. Screened porch, attached garage, slate roof, and central air. All sited on a lovely half acre with mature shade trees, a box garden, and spacious lawn areas. $468,000

THE MARCEL BREUER HOUSE, PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY

The prototype for this dramatic contemporary was built in the garden of the Museum of Modern Art in 1949. Set on nearly four beautifully landscaped and completely private acres, the house has three bedrooms, three baths, a two-story gallery and solarium, play room, study and living room with stone fireplace. Located at the end of a private lane this is truly a gem of a house. NEW PRICE... $585,000

PRINCETON ADDRESS

Begin the new year right. Buy this charming 3/4 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath, 2 fireplace salt box in excellent condition. There are 8 acres which give this house a country setting yet it is close to Princeton and Lawrenceville. Very fairly priced at $397,500
